HHH PREVAILS AMID TURMOIL

CONVENTION HEADQUARTERS ASSAULTED . . .

Bloody Battle Is Fought By Protesters, Police

Chicago (AP) — Some 3,000 antiwar demonstrators fought a bloody, open battle with an equal contingent of police and Illinois National Guardsmen Wednesday night in an assault on the downtown headquarters of the Democratic National Convention.

There were mass arrests and some 300 injuries as police, clubbed at the demonstrators, who have massed in Chicago by the thousands to protest against administration war policies.

Rocks and bottles were thrown, car windows broken, trash cans overturned and set afire and heads were beaten in a five-block stretch along fashionable South Michigan Avenue, main street of Chicago's showcase front yard.

Smelled In HHH Suite

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was in his 25th floor suite of the Conrad Hilton, which fronts on Michigan Avenue, awaiting an appearnace before the convention at the International Amphitheatre, five miles south. A Humphrey aide said tear gas could be smelled in his room as police battled demonstrators in the hotel ground floor lobby.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, candidate for the presidential nomination, also was in the hotel. His wife, ready to leave for the amphitheatre, was detained by the Secret Service for security reasons.

The whereabouts of Sen. George S. McGovern, another candidate, was unknown.

Bearded, Clean-Cut

The youths — some bearded and sandaled, others clean cut — have been in Chicago since last weekend to demonstrate their displeasure over Johnson administration policies concerning the Vietnam war.

They chose Wednesday — the day the Democratic presidential candidate was to be selected — for their major movement. More than 100,000 antiwar demonstrators had been promised by the administration opponents. About 10,000 showed up.

The rush on the Hilton came after guardsmen, using tear gas, foiled an antiwar march on the amphitheatre, where a dovish Vietnam plank was rejected by delegates.

The demonstrators broke through police and military lines in Grant Park, across from the Hilton, and stormed the hotel, where they were beaten back and went rampaging through the streets.

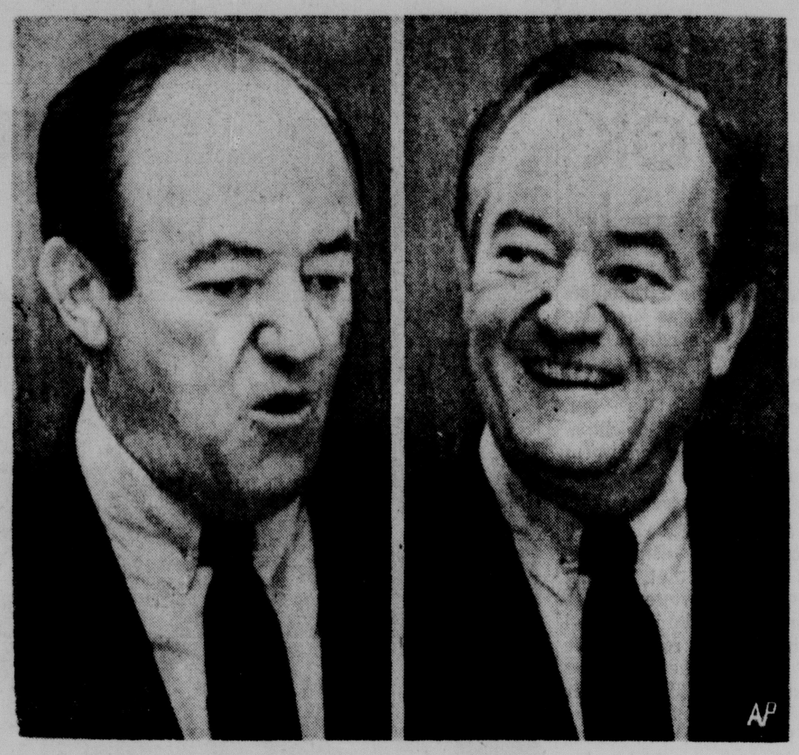
Police met any rush head-on, clubbed the demonstrators and threw them in vans headed for the central detention lockup.

Several spectators were also seen beaten as police moved into a crowd and dispersed them. The spectators joined the demonstrators in jeering police.

Many of the injured suffered hand, arm and head fractures. One policeman was bitten on the neck.

Bayonets Bared

About 12,000 guardsmen reinforced police, some of them driving in wire-covered jeeps. Almost all had their bayonets unsheathed.



THE NOMINEE . . . Humphrey smiles before nomination.

Sweeps Easily Past His Rivals

... In Convention Under Armed Guard

Chicago (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, apostle of the politics of hope, swept to the Democratic presidential nomination Wednesday night at a national convention under armed guard. Humphrey soared past the rivals who had challenged him, as Johnson's ally and heir, on platforms of opposition to administration policy in the Vietnam war.

And thus at 57, the man who once waged a futile campaign for the White House in a battered bus, climbed to the pinnacle of his party.

Humphrey acknowledged in advance that the Democratic task will be difficult in the coming campaign against Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon.

The vice president's triumph overwhelmed the long, once-lonely campaign of Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

There was turmoil in downtown Chicago as the Democratic delegates, insulated by fences and cordons of police, cast the ballots which awarded Humphrey their greatest prize.

Landslide

So great was the delegate landslide for Humphrey that his vote passed the majority level when the rhythmic roll call of the states reached Pennsylvania.

And the convention erupted into sign waving cheers.

The roll call vote, with 1,312 needed for nomination:

Humphrey 1,761¾.

McCarthy 601.

McGovern 146½.

The Rev. Channing E. Phillips, of Washington, D.C., a Negro who ran as a favorite son of black delegates, 67½.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who said he would not accept any nomination, received 12½ votes anyhow.

"The chair declares that Vice President Hubert Humphrey is the Democratic presidential nominee," Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma said when the count was tallied.

'Happy Days'

That ignited another round of cheers by sign-waving Humphrey partisans. The band played "Happy Days are Here Again."

But the political merriment seemed thin and forced. There were scores of empty seats in the galleries, which normally are packed at a national convention.

This seemed evidence of the troubled streets and the tight security.

Illinois State Chairman James A. Ronan moved to make Humphrey's nomination unanimous. That set off a tumult of cheers, but there were shouts of "No" as well.

Roar of Ayes

Albert called for the ayes, got a roar in reply, and never asked for opposition votes. And that was that.

On his night of triumph, Humphrey himself said he was dismayed at the violence far below his window. But he said the rioters did not represent the people of Chicago.

"They've been brought in from all over the country," he said. "We knew this was going to happen. It was all programmed."

The vice president said it is hard to determine whether the trouble will hurt the Democrats politically.

But he said he doesn't think it will. "It's a separate act to itself," he said. "A kind of side-show."

Bloody Battle

Throngs of Vietnam war protestors fought a bloody battle with police and National Guardsmen on the street 25 floors below his hotel window.

The violence, and the anger it stirred at the convention hall, put still another fracture in a Democratic Party already in discord over policy on Vietnam.

Humphrey's forces wrote a campaign platform in line with administration policy on the war. (See story Page 2.)

Humphrey himself saw the street disorders, smelled the tear gas in his suite at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Unsuccessful

Donald Peterson of Eau Claire, Wis., chairman of the Wisconsin delegation, tried unsuccessfully to have the convention adjourn for two weeks because of the turmoil, and reconvene in another city. Peterson supported McCarthy.

Albert, the convention chairman, ruled him out of order.

Humphrey's grip on swift nomination was demonstrated when The Associated Press count of firmly committed first ballot votes swelled past the 1,312 majority level.

Hughes and 2 'Sons'

Humphrey reached that goal when Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey endorsed him and two favorite sons, Govs. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana and Mills E. Goodwin Jr. of Virginia, stepped aside as token candidates, releasing their delegations to join the vice president.

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley belatedly swung his support to Humphrey, handling the vice president 112 more votes.

Nebraska Demos Split On Presidential Ballot

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Chicago — Reflecting the image of what appears to be a shattered party, Nebraska's Democratic delegation Wednesday night split down the middle in presidential balloting.

Fifteen votes went to Vice President Hubert Humphrey and fifteen were cast for his two unsuccessful challengers.

Sen. George McGovern collected nine of them; Sen. Eugene McCarthy garnered the other six.

Bitter Split

The sharp division signaled a bitter split within Nebraska's Democratic ranks.

The disruptive schism spells grave dangers for the hopes of Nebraska's Democratic congressional nominees this year, one state party official admitted.

Delegation Chairman Hans Jensen said he fears that the nomination of Humphrey, combined with the platform position on Vietnam, "does not give the voters the proper choice in November."

However, Jensen said, Humphrey will have his support.

Richard Swenson of Omaha, a strong Humphrey supporter, said there is "a good chance" he can win in Nebraska, "although it will be an uphill fight."

Here's how the vote went:

For McGovern: Hans Jensen, Daniel Lynch, Mary Cummingham, Virginia Pavelka, Jan Healey, David Cullan, Nancy Childs, Jacqualine Nielsen and LeRoy Bahensky.

For McCarthy: Don Searcy, Ernest Luther, Gene Pokorny, David Evans, Thomas Dean and alternate William Lyons, voting for Donald McGinley.

State Demos Unhappy

Young Nebraska Democratic delegates said the convention ignored the nation's voters and assured a Republican victory by rejecting the minority report on Vietnam. (See Story Page 16.)

NBC Proposes Debate

From Press Reports

NBC President Julian Goodman early Thursday invited Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon to hold a two-hour debate Nov. 3 — two days before the voters decide in their contest for the White House.

Goodman sent out the invitation to the vice president before the ballot that nominated him for the Democratic presidency was over. He sent an identical wire to Nixon.

The debate was proposed with the understanding it would be subject to congressional approval of a suspension of rules requiring equal radio and TV time for political candidates.

Democratic presidential nominee Hubert Humphrey received a call of congratulations from his Republican opponent, Richard M. Nixon, early Thursday, a Nixon spokesman said in Miami.

Nixon watched the balloting on television from his villa at Key Biscayne near Miami and called Humphrey in Chicago when the Pennsylvania delegation put the vice president over the top, the spokesman said.

Three Killed In 2 Separate Road Mishaps

By Associated Press

Two persons were killed and two injured in a headon crash near Fremont and an elderly Iowa woman died in a one-car crash east of Emerson. Both accidents occurred late Wednesday.

The fatal accident at Fremont occurred about one-quarter mile south of town on old State Highway 8.

Dodge County Attorney R. L. Kuhlmann identified one of the victims as four-year-old Sherill Goracke, Route 3, Fremont, who was a passenger in a car driven by her cousin, Diane Goracke, also of Route 3 Fremont. The cousin was hospitalized.

Kuhlmann said the identity of the other victim was being withheld pending notification of next of kin. Another occupant of the second vehicle also was hospitalized.

Killed near Emerson was Mrs. Charles Black, 69, of Spencer, Iowa.

Dakota County Sheriff Allan Bligh said Mrs. Black died when the car she was driving crashed into a drainage ditch along U.S. 35 about 3½ miles east of Emerson.

Czech Assemblymen Balk At Ratification

Prague (AP) — The Czechoslovak National Assembly refused to ratify the Moscow accord Wednesday and declared the Soviet-led occupation illegal, but the people began to show resignation to the presence of foreign troops.

Food stores and restaurants opened, citizens sunned themselves on benches in the old Town Hall Square and workers returned to the factories.

Although posters in various parts of the city called for passive resistance against the occupiers, there were no work stoppages and blaring auto horns that signaled the short strikes of Monday and Tuesday.

Soviet Armor Patrols

The National Assembly urged the reformist government to seek an early deadline for withdrawal of the Soviet bloc troops as Soviet armored cars patrolled the streets and soldiers guarded the doors of newspaper offices, radio and television studios and the office of the national news agency.

The National Assembly president, Josef Smrkovsky, was cheered by a large crowd as he left the building just 100 yards away from a column of armored cars.

Soviet tanks had withdrawn from all main streets, but they could still be seen behind trees and shrubbery in the parks.

Czechoslovak flags flew at half-staff. Many Czechoslovaks appeared disappointed that Parliament did not criticize the country's leaders for what they had agreed in Moscow.

Refusal Speculated

There was speculation that the central committee of the Czechoslovak Communist Party also would refuse to ratify the agreement signed Monday by Czechoslovak and Kremlin leaders, calling for an indefinite occupation by Warsaw Pact troops until the situation "normalizes."

Observers felt such action might force Communist Party chief Alexander Dubcek to inform the Russians that he is unable to get the necessary approval of any agreement unless the Soviet bloc troops pull out.

Speculation mounted that the Russians, rather than withdraw, would set up a military government to insure obedience.

Urban Youth Join Rural At Fair

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

You can't tell by the dress what the address might be at the Nebraska State Fair.

This becomes so true when you see an attractive 16-year-old blonde like Chris Grady in her western outfit leading an often winning Appaloosa.

This pair will be among the more than 500 entries going into the arena for the first livestock event of the fair when the 4-H horse halter entries show Thursday evening in a pre-fair opening act.

Chris acts like she knows what she is doing. She has a record of four purple-ribbon wins in judging, halter class, western pleasure and horsemanship from the recent Lancaster County Fair.

Chris could easily be taken for a young lady that grew up on a ranch in the Nebraska Sandhills. Her address is 2010 Diana Drive, Lincoln, and being a city girl takes nothing away from learning horsemanship for Chris.

Chris said she "got along pretty good in judging at the county fair."

Her county agent, Cyril Bish, added, "Chris Grady had a perfect score in judging."

Appaloosa Too

Wherever and whenever you see Chris at a 4-H Club horse event, you will also see her Appaloosa that she calls Blue Eagle.

Blue Eagle has won many honors and was judged the top Appaloosa in the judging class at the Lancaster County Fair.

The 4-H horse project has been a livestock event equally popular with city and urban youth.

No Exception

Chris is no exception with the city address.

As the pick-up trucks, horse trailers, stock trucks and vans arrive with horses and club members it will be just a guess whether the club member comes from town or country.

You can't tell by the dress, horsemanship or the quality of entries because you don't have to live in the country to be a winner in 4-H horse events.

Chris says she has learned her horsemanship from 4-H and from experience in attending many horse shows.

Broken Leg

That experience has included many events. One, not so pleasant, was a broken leg three years ago that resulted when a horse fell that Chris was riding.

Chris will meet up with many purple ribbon winners from many county and district fairs. Competition gets tougher every year at the State Fair with entries in the 4-H Club horse show going from 455 in 1966, to 494 in 1967 and with 582 advance entries scheduled for this year's event.

While the address of the winners will vary between rural, villages and cities, one thing will be common to the champions — they and their mounts will display championship quality because that's what it takes to win at the State Fair.

Deeply Divided Demos OK Pro-White House Viet Plank

World News

Chicago — A deeply divided Democratic convention, after a climactic floor clash between administration supporters and critics, adopted Wednesday a White-House-dictated Vietnam plank supporting administration policy in Vietnam.

By a vote of 1,567¾ to 1,041¼, the convention rejected a plank advanced by Democratic doves calling for an unconditional halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Instead, it adopted a plank, corresponding to administration policy, that called for a bombing halt but only on conditional terms.

'Stop The War'

The vote reflected the deep, emotional division within the party over the Vietnam issue — a division that had manifested itself in nearly three hours of increasingly acrimonious floor debate conducted against a backdrop of sporadic choruses of "Stop The War" chants from the galleries and from the New York and California delegations.

It was a division that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey had hoped to avoid but could not because President Johnson intervened behind the scenes to toughen the language of the Vietnam plank so it would correspond to administration policy.

In the wake of the emotional confrontation, the major question was whether the Democratic nominee could heal the open rift caused by the floor debate.

Even as the vote was being announced, the New York delegation, which had voted 148-42 for the dove plank, broke into a moaning rendition of "We Shall Overcome."

Again and again, with the delegates milling and chanting on the convention floor, the doves protested that to approve the administration plank was but to "rubberstamp" and continue past policies in Vietnam.

Administration supporters replied that the doves, with their proposed plank, were threatening to imperil the lives of American troops and to impose a coalition government on Saigon.

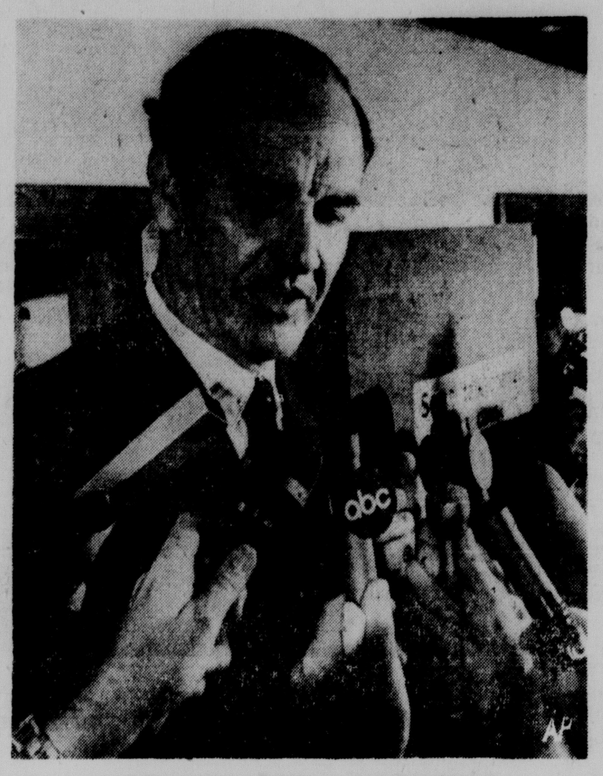
The debate closed not with arguments by the antagonists but with a surprise message from Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, American commander in Vietnam, relayed to the convention by Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, chairman of the platform committee.

Five-Fold Increase

As a comparative silence fell over the convention, Boggs reported that he had asked at a White House briefing what additional casualties would result if the U.S. stopped the bombing unconditionally. The answer came back from Abrams, he said, that within two weeks North Vietnam would be able to increase its military capacity in the South five-fold.

With the divisive Vietnam issue finally resolved, the convention without discussion adopted its 12,000-word platform for the coming campaign. On domestic issues, the platform is liberal in tone, committing the party, for example, to implement the ambitious recommendations of the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders.

At the same time, on the law and order issue, the platform pledges a "vigorous and sustained campaign against lawlessness" while advocating an "attack on the root causes of crime and disorder."



McGOVERN AT HALL

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota held an impromptu news conference early Wednesday in an upstairs corridor of Chicago's International Amphitheatre while the Democratic National Convention was in session below. He went to the scene to visit with delegaes, setting something of a precedent for candidates for presidential nominations who traditionally stay away until someone is chosen. McGovern is closely allied with the Kennedy forces.

Meddling Protest Rejected

New York Times Service

By HEDRICK SMITH

Paris — Hanoi's negotiators at the talks here on the war in Vietnam Wednesday rejected an official U.S. protest against their attempts to interfere in the American election campaign.

The State Department said Tuesday it had instructed Ambassador W. Averell Harriman to tell the Hanoi delegation to stop miscalculating or trying to interfere in internal American affairs and get down to the serious business of making peace in Southeast Asia.

North Vietnamese ngotiators also rejected an official protest from Harriman, the chief U.S. delegate, that Hanoi's officials stop "trying to interfere in internal American affairs" with their comments on the election campaign.

In the 19th negotiating session since May 13, Xuan Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator, again cited anti-war criticism among Americans and ridiculed the elaborate precautions taken in Chicago to protect the Democratic convention.

"In the present electoral campaign, in order to cope with the indignation of the people," Thuy asserted, "the U.S. authorities have had to use barbed wire and tens of thousands of their troops and police agents."

The Democratic Party platform did not come up during the formal three-hour negotiating session, which produced no breakthrough on the impasse over Hanoi's demand for a total halt in American bombing of North Vietnam.

300 Reds Hold Out Near Saigon

Saigon (AP) — More than 300 North Vietnamese troops held out in bunkers against a heavy allied air and artillery bombardment Wednesday night after losing 84 dead in a battle with U.S. air cavalrymen along an infiltration route northwest of Saigon.

U.S. headquarters said jets, helicopter gunships and artillery were supporting troops of the 101st Air Cavalry Division battling to dislodge the enemy force in jungled terrain 34 miles northwest of Saigon. American casualties were termed light.

The presence of North Vietnamese troops so close to Saigon, coupled with fresh rocket attacks on the capital, gave rise to new unconfirmed reports of an impending enemy assault against Saigon.

Several hundred police swept through the heart of Saigon as a 10 p.m. curfew went into effect. They searched buildings and checked residents' identification papers, presumably looking for enemy infiltrators.

Ike Better, Is Taken Off Critical List

Washington (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was taken off the critical list Wednesday in his recovery from his seventh heart attack, but doctors said the long range outlook is still guarded.

Doctors at Walter Reed Army Medical Center said however that because of the extent of General Eisenhower's underlying coronary condition, "his present condition must still be considered serious, albeit not necessarily critical at this time."

In reply to questions, Eisenhower's medical team said the 77-year-old general has not yet been allowed to read books or newspapers and has not begun to sit up in bed.

The doctors said Eisenhower's rally was due to a combination of medical treatment and a natural recovery process. They have consistently praised his remarkable spirits and his courageous will.

Ted Kennedy Quiets Effort To Draft Him

Chicago (UPI) — The last-minute brush fire drive in draft Edward M. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination was put out Wednesday by the senator's own hand.

Word from Kennedy that he was "final and firm" in his wish not to be nominated calmed a whirlwind that had captured the imagination of convention delegates since Sunday.

The statement from Kennedy's Washington office said: "I appreciate the confidence and the spontaneous support of my friends in various parts of the country. But I ask them now to cease all activity on my behalf so that the convention can choose its nominee from among the capable and dedicated candidates already in contention."

With that, Kennedy's youthful supporters, who had opened a draft-Kennedy office in the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel, shut it down.

In private telephone calls to some convention kingpins who had been pushing him, Kennedy gave the same word: "Not now — for personal and family reasons."

McCarthy Made Offer To Throw Support To Ted

Chicago (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy said Wednesday he offered to throw all of his support to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in order to deny the Democratic presidential nomination to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. But he said he now accepts as final Kennedy's refusal to take the nomination.

McCarthy spoke at an informal meeting with reporters who have traveled with him in the campaign.

His manner was subdued and sometimes even gloomy.

McCarthy confirmed earlier reports by members of his staff that in a 20-minute meeting Tuesday with Stephen Smith, Kennedy's brother-in-law, he had offered to throw his strength behind the younger brother of Robert F. Kennedy, who had fought McCarthy for the nomination in an often bitter campaign before he was murdered.

McCarthy still seemed uncertain as to whether he will support Humphrey should the vice president win in Chicago.

FBI To Eye Beating Of Newsmen

Washington (AP) — Atty Gen. Ramsey Clark Wednesday ordered an FBI investigation into the beatings of newsmen in the streets of Chicago.

A spokesman for the attorney general issued a terse statement but refused further comment on reported brutality by the Chicago police force during demonstrations in connection with the Democratic National Convention.

The announcement of a federal investigation into the attacks by Chicago law enforcement officers came after reports that so far 24 newsmen have been injured in street incidents involving police.

Presumably the FBI probe will extend to the activities of federal law enforcement officers — FBI men themselves, members of the Secret Service, and persons under their control in the Chicago amphitheater where the convention is being held.

A total $9.5 billion is invested in Nebraska farms and ranches with land and buildings making up $6.2 billion of the total, agricultural officials said Wednesday.

The State-Federal Crop Reporting Service said farm holdings of crop and livestock last Jan. 1 were worth $1.9 billion with machinery making up the other $1.4 billion.

It said equipment used last year on the state's farms and ranches included 193,000 tractors, 106,000 automobiles, 97,000 trucks, 57,000 corn pickers and picker shellers, 50,000 combines, 14,000 forage harvesters, 31,000 irrigation pumps, 20,000 grain driers and 22,000 pickup bailers.

The service said gross income for ranches and farms in the state averaged $25,000 apiece with a total of 78,000 farms and ranches reported across the state. No average net income was given.

Alliance Worker Injured At Train Derailment Site

Sheridan, Wyo. (AP) — Gomer Roberts, 46, of Alliance, Neb., injured Tuesday as railroad crews were working to clear the wreckage of derailed freight cars east of Sheridan, was reported in good condition Wednesday in a Sheridan hospital.

Roberts is a foreman for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad. He was cut in the forehead when a heavy hook slipped and struck him.

Hospital attendants said he will be released Thursday.

Railroad officials said it will take two weeks or more to clear the derailment scene of all the wreckage.

In the meantime, trains are bypassing the wreck on an auxiliary line.

The cars were part of train No. 117 and included nine empties, one loaded with salad dressing, one with molasses and one with soybean oil meal. There was no official estimate of damage.

Missing Safe Found; $3,000 Contents Gone

Chadron (AP) — The safe stolen from Decker's Food Center during the early morning hours of Aug. 17 has been found two miles north and four miles west of here along the White River, Chadron Police Chief Robert Beers said.

Beers said the safe was located by a farmer, John Perrine, who was cutting alfalfa in a field near the river.

Beers said Perrine noticed a hole in a fence next to the river and saw part of the shattered safe on the river bank with other pieces lying in the river.

Tire tracks were found in the field leading up to the river.

Wrecker Abandoned

The wrecker that was used to remove the safe from the store on the east edge of Chadron was found abandoned one mile east of Chadron in an alfalfa field just off Highway 20 a few hours after the burglary.

The one-ton safe contained about $3,000 in cash and checks at the time it was stolen. The contents have not been found.

Officials said no substantial leads have been uncovered.

Buttner Fined, Loses License

Omaha (UPI) — Former Planning Board member C. R. (Barney) Buttner was fined $100 in costs and his driver's license suspended for six months in connection with a drunken driving charge.

The sentence meted out by District Judge Lawrence Krell was the same as that assessed the 38-year-old Buttner in Municipal Court five months ago.

He was arrested following a Jan. 8 accident in Omaha.

Expert Predicts Top State Fair Livestock Show

Nebraska State Fair 4-H livestock entries are up 325 over last year. This year's total of 2,879 entries does not include the poultry and rabbit entries.

This is potentially the largest livestock show in State Fair history, according to Dave Williams, Extension 4-H livestock specialist at the University of Nebraska.

All classes show an increase over last year. Entries by class are: beef breeding—153; market beef—762; beef carcass—133; dairy—424; light horse—582; sheep—437; and swine—388.

According to Williams and project superintendents, the increase may be a reflection of several things. "However, the new 4-H livestock barn probably accounts best for the increase," Williams said.

Response and acceptance will be by Cyril Bish, Lancaster County Extension agent, on behalf of Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service; and Bruce Rickertsen, Lexington, Dawson County 4-H member and current exhibitor at the State Fair.

Ex-Rep. Brock Dies; Past State Demo Chief

Lincoln Star Special

LAWRENCE BROCK

Wakefield — Lawrence Brock, 62, former U.S. Democratic congressman from the Third District in Nebraska, died Wednesday in a Zion, Ill., hospital following an extended illness.

Funeral services are being delayed until 2 p.m. Sunday at the Salem Lutheran Church in Wakefield to enable friends now at the National Democratic Convention in Chicago to attend. Burial will be in the Wakefield Cemetery.

Mr. Brock served as Nebraska Democratic party chairman from 1954 to 1956. He resigned the post to seek the congressional seat, but lost by a narrow margin to incumbent Republican Rep. R. D. Harrison of Norfolk. Mr. Brock won in the 1958 campaign against Rep. Harrison.

Close Race

As representative for the Third District in 1959-61, Mr. Brock lost his bid for re-election in a close race to Republican Rep. Ralph F. Beermann. Since then Mr. Brock had been an assistant administrator of the Farmers Home Administration in Washington.

Mr. Brock underwent a brain tumor operation last January in Illinois while visiting a daughter following the death of his wife, Roenna, earlier in January.

Born on a farm in Platte County, Mr. Brock was reared in Leigh. He was graduated from the University of Nebraska College of Pharmacy in 1929 and operated a drug store in Madison for two years.

Later he operated a 240-acre farm near Wakefield and became a prominent farmer-cattle feeder.

Mr. Brock was a past president of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, Cornbelt Livestock Feeders Association, and Northeast Nebraska Rural Public Power District; and a past vice president of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association. He was a former member of the Nebraska Highway Advisory Commission and a member of the executive committee of the Better Nebraska Association.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Harold Teil of Roselle, Ill., Mrs. Charles Soderberg of Wakefield, Mrs. William Gibson of Santa Ana, Calif., and Mrs. Richard Rosenbahn of Omaha; 13 grandchildren; and four sisters, Margaret and Mathilda, both of Omaha, Mrs. R. L. (Lillian) Barrett of Columbus and Mrs. W. W. (Helen) Rynearson of Denver, Colo.

Rev. Vogel Honored

Fremont — The Rev. Theodore J. Vogel was honored in a special service by members of Trinity Lutheran Church for the 60th anniversary of his ordination into the ministry. His son, the Rev. Theodore H. Vogel of Sisseton, S.D., was guest speaker.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

CHICAGO — The Democratic National Convention rolls on, seeking the key to victory in November but with many locks to confuse the way. What was suspected is now a certainty — that Vietnam is as divisive a force within the party as it is between the party and the mass of voters.

The Nebraska delegation is typical in this regard, badly split over Vietnam and most other things. Some people will see all of this as a liability for the party, and it may well be, but it is not necessarily an evil thing.

There is something to be said for a party that operates on a no-holds-barred basis and washes its dirty linen in plain view of everyone. It is, in this respect, a more humanistic party than the Republicans and that, too, could be a part of the image the American people might perceive.

If so, then the battling here in Chicago would not be nearly such a liability as might be suspected. Something of the same thing is true in regard to the elaborate security precautions that are in effect here.

The thousands and thousands of police, National Guardsmen and regular Army units in the Chicago area testify to the frustrations that are apparent on the American scene. But does all this reflect poorly upon the party now in session here in Chicago?

Certainly the upheaval of recent years on the American social scene has come while the Democratic Party held power in Washington, D.C. But this begins to get to aspects of the solution and not the problem.

The problem is not uniquely a Democratic one, but rather, one part and parcel of the total American way of life. Thus, voters should not be looking at who or which party has created the problem, because neither of them has done this. Rather, voters should be considering which party offers a greater hope of solving the problem. This of course, is what the campaign ahead, hopefully, will tell the American people.

On the question of Vietnam, there is no longer much basis for indecision. The GOP quite obviously represents a tougher or more hawkish attitude toward Vietnam and communism in general.

The minority platform report here in Chicago can be described only as an abandonment of Vietnam. It is everything the North Vietnamese could want it to be. It is pointed out, in fact, as a formula, at least in part, that the communists insist upon before entering into meaningful negotiations with the United States.

With the minority platform plan, the U.S. would unquestionably lose the conflict in Vietnam. It seems only fair that advocates of that plank openly state that this is the case. In contrast, they attempt to sell that minoriy plank as a compromise.

And the minority plank represents the minority here by only a small margin. It is not very far from the majority attitude of this convention. This is in substantial contrast to the GOP and its nominee, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The environment of this convention is little different than its essence. It is a convention seemingly without order. From day to day, one has no knowledge of what the program for the evening will be in its totality.

It is a tough job, in fact, even finding out what time the sessions start from one day to the next. One thing is certain — the convention always ends the day at a very late hour.

And even in high-flying Chicago, it is tough to find a place to eat at 3:30 or 4:00 a.m. The combination, if you let it get the best of you, would surely produce nervous indigestion.

War Casualty

Some Bad Advice

Standing on the steps of the Statehouse in Columbus, Ohio, the other day, Richard Nixon had his shoes shined by two young boys and took the opportunity to offer a little advice.

He told the two, ages 10 and 12, not to take any courses in political science.

"I never took a political science course. I hope no political science teacher will read this but I don't believe in it," said the former vice president.

One can be sure that many a political scientist read what Nixon said, of course, and that many of them took umbrage.

And for good reason. If a man can become vice president of the United States and twice be nominated for president without ever having any formal exposure to political science, then perhaps the political scientists are doing something wrong. And that kind of thinking would make anyone insecure.

But there's something wrong with that last paragraph. In the first place, political scientists aren't necessarily trying to create working politicians. Rather, they are trying to instill an understanding of the political process.

And in the second place, political scientists will readily admit the difference between theory and practice. Understanding the formal legislative process, for example, does not necessarily lead to understanding of political power.

It's a long way from the poli sci classroom to the smoke-filled room. But a little theory wouldn't hurt Nixon, or anyone. We hope the two lads who polished his shoes ignore his advice.

Not Too New Or Different

The "Little Hoover Commission" study of state government contained few surprises.

As expected, the study group, composed of 42 businessmen appointed by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, applied modern business management and cost control principles to the various state agencies in coming up with some dollar-saving ideas.

In this respect, the commission recommended "pooling" of state-owned motor vehicles and airplanes. The pooling principle was also applied to secretarial personnel in the larger agencies. Replacement of outmoded office equipment was also suggested in some instances.

Tackling some of the larger inefficiencies, the commission found some departments and agencies could also be pooled.

Most logical, but not particularly new, was the proposal to pool the State Patrol, Department of Motor Vehicles, and Accident Records Bureau into a new Department of Public Safety.

Perhaps more sweeping—but the commission stops short of saying it can or should be done—is the pooling of manpower and programs of the welfare, health and public institutions departments into a new Department of Social Services.

Admittedly there is overlapping responsibility and duplication of effort among the three departments, but it's difficult to see how efficiency can be improved by merely pooling the agencies into a "super" department with a "super" administrator.

However, the commission is on solid ground in its thinking that the responsibility and authority of the three departments should be redefined. The present administrators would agree. But efficiency is no more easily gained by consolidation than by inter-agency cooperations.

The Little Hoover Commission report contains some worthwhile ideas. Some have already been adopted by state agencies. Unlike other studies, this one is unique. It didn't cost the taxpayers one red cent to make, so they have a better-than-even chance of getting their money's worth.

JAMES RESTON

The Double Standards

WASHINGTON — The Russians are asking us to do hard things with our mind. They are expecting us to believe that they can betray an ally and be faithful to us, their sworn enemy. They are addressing us on two levels of the mind and asking for two standards of conduct: the right to be as beastly as they please to the Czechoslovaks or anybody else in their East European sphere of influence, and the right to respect and confidence and cooperation in the rest of the world.

It is a preposterous idea until you begin to think about it. Everybody longs for universal standards of conduct; the greater the diversity of modern life the greater the yearning for identity. Philosophers have been dreaming about common standards for the whole human family throughout the centuries but somehow their dreams have not come true.

Moscow has tried to crush ideas with tanks. It is stupid and brutish and it will fail in the end, but should we denounce the Kremlin's double standard and refuse to do business with them in other fields?

This is a real problem for the American mind. We are against double standards, except our own. We don't like to do business with wicked people, except we do it all the time. We are against spheres of influence for the Russians in East Europe, and the Chinese in Southeast Asia, though we demand one for ourselves in the Western hemisphere.

It is not an exact or fair analogy. Washington did not order the tanks into Havana as Moscow ordered them into Prague. Washington is not imposing its will on its allies or stamping out freedom of expression or dissent and the difference is fundamental. But Washington does act in defense of its vital interests — and sometimes makes war in defense of interests that may not be vital — and it is in no position, after Vietnam, Cuba, Guatemala, the Dominican Republic, and Bolivia to take the self-righteous position that it will not do business with the confused, divided and frightened men in the Kremlin because they ordered their soliders into Czechoslovakia.

The predominant issue in the world today is the control of military arms The cost of fear in the world today is stupendous. There is no way to deal effectively with the poverty of the U.S.S.R. or the U.S.A., or the misery and menace of the poor and hungry people of the earth in China, Asia, Africa and Latin America unless we can cut at least $100 billion out of the military budgets of the world every year. There is simply no way to deal with the general problems of hunger, ignorance, and disease in the world or of the standard of living among the poor all over the earth unless we can make spectacular cuts in the cost of military weapons.

Accordingly we do have to do hard things with our minds. We do have to think on different levels. We do have to talk to the Russians about arms control even though we despise their savage and clumsy invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Johnson administration has no difficulty with this argument. It has been around here long enough now to learn about the honorable perplexities of life, but there is a fugitive mood in the country, a longing to get away from troublesome things, the tendency to take refuge in absolutes, and this sort of thing can create insurmountable popular prejudices that make serious discussion of fundamental questions of policy difficult if not impossible.

The election campaign almost rules out common sense, and the Soviet invasion of Prague makes communication between East and West extremely difficult, but Washington and Moscow obviously have to talk.

For the worrying thing about the Soviet invasion of Prague was not Moscow's show of strength but its show of weakness. It was not only afraid of freedom, but determined to use force to defend the communist system, no matter the consequences. The worrying thing therefore is not Moscow's system which is in trouble all over the world and even at home, but Moscow's judgment. The men in the Kremlin really believe they can stop ideas with tanks and that is a truly dangerous thought. The line of communication therefore has to be reopened with Moscow on the great questions of war and peace, no matter how stupid and cruel they have been in Czechoslovakia.

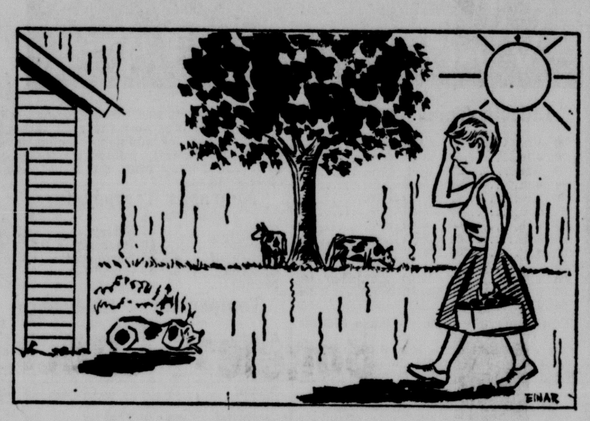
Patchwork Prairie Country

Today my new iris arrived but my enthusiasm for planting them is not what I thought it would be, for the day is hot and windy, somewhat humid and downright uncomfortable. The cattle came in early from the pasture to stand under the trees this morning where the searing sunlight could not reach them through the heavy foliage.



Our little dog is not capering about the yard as he usually does. A nice cool spot north of the garage where the ferns grow is his favorite spot to get away from the heat.

My favorite place is in the house . . . iris or no iris. However I did grow anxious enough to peek into the box to see the condition of the plants and if any substitutions had to be made. I will admit I began to wish the sun would go under a cloud and the wind change to a cool northerly breeze so that I might work in the garden.

The names of the iris as always are enchanting: "Sylvan Stream," "Golden Garland," "Cayene Capers" and "Rococo." I saw these iris in bloom the past spring and checked the ones I like in my hand book so I did not order them at random.

☆ ☆ ☆

The wind carries many sounds of the changing season now. By day it is that of drying corn tassels and the caw of crows as they flock together over the far field. At night it is the constant chirp of the cricket and the bark of the young coyotes as the pack keeps to the distant reaches of the farmyard. Now and then the wind brings the lonely hoot of the ground owl from the prairie.

An autumn wind is a sighing wind bringing with it a foreboding of nights to come . . . of coolness and dark twilight that lingers awhile across the changing landscape.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Farmer's days are changing, too. No longer does he think of weed spray, cultivation and rainfall. Now he is making preparation for a new seed bed by disking the wheat ground. While there is much information circulating on attempts to produce a hybrid wheat that will do for the wheat farmer what hybrid corn did for the corn farmer, we do not plan to do any experimenting with other varieties.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is tomato-picking time again tonight, although I may find baked tomatoes on the vine after today's heat wave. How good they have been. I am waiting for the Golden Jubilee to begin giving us some yellow fruit. For some reason this variety has not grown nor bloomed like the red variety. I am wondering if this is the nature of the yellow tomatoes. I planted the seeds in the garden and transplanted them after they were a nice size. This is my first attempt at raising yellow tomatoes but if they don't suddenly begin doing something outstanding, it may be my last attempt.

I wanted to make yellow tomato preserves. I know the small yellow pear tomatoes make good preserves but I also know the larger ones make delightful preserves. Unless I suddenly wake up some morning and find big, golden tomatoes hanging on the vines, I will have to rely on memories to satisfy my craving for the sweet, thick preserves as brilliant as the sun and twice as warming to the appetite.

Kennedy Clan Votes Against VP Shriver

CHICAGO — Hubert Humphrey's search for a vice president has run into a family feud which could only happen in the Kentucky mountains or with the Kennedy clan. Teddy Kennedy doesn't want the vice presidency, but the family has turned thumbs down on Ted's brother-in-law, Sargent Shriver, who does.

And since one reason for putting Shriver on the ticket would be to get Kennedy family support, this amounts to a firm veto.

Reason for the family veto of Sargent Shriver now is the argument, first that he is not really a Kennedy; second, that if he were elected vice president, he might get in the way of Teddy Kennedy's future.

The country might get fed up with a chain of Kennedys running for high office; or the Humphrey administration, of which he would be a part, might become unpopular.

☆ ☆ ☆

Shriver, married to Eunice Kennedy, oldest of JFK's sisters, got in wrong with the family when he accepted the ambassadorship to France at about the time Bobby Kennedy was running for president.

What happened was that President Johnson had offered Shriver the ambassadorship last winter, about three months before Bob Kennedy saw what Gene McCarthy was able to do in New Hampshire and jumped into the race.

Shriver's reply to the President was that he hoped to run in Illinois for governor or the U.S. Senate. To give him time to explore this opportunity, LBJ kept the ambassadorship open. By the time Shriver had made up his mind, Bobby had officially announced for president against LBJ. Thinking this might embarrass Shriver, Johnson asked Secretary of State Rusk to take the precaution of telephoning him in Spain, where Shriver was vacationing, to make sure Bobby's announcement would not complicate his appointment to France. Shriver still wanted to serve. He was appointed.

This added to the friction between the Kennedy clan and their brother-in-law.

Vice President Humphrey, in looking over the field for a running mate, has found that Shriver fills all the vote-getting qualifications. He did a good job as head of the Peace Corps, where he became identified with young people. As head of the anti-poverty program he became identified with Negroes and the problems of the big cities.

However, the alienation of the Kennedy family would undo most of these assets.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Johnson Reluctant To Lay Aside Power; Party Members Uncertain Of His Attitude

CHICAGO — Against the sweep of world events, what is happening here has the look of a curiously outmoded game. The players are going through the motions with a semblance of the old fervor, the passion, the partisanship, and yet, it is a strong suspicion, they are not convinced of the relevance of the organized chaos that is a national convention.

Vietnam, Czechoslovakia, inflation, strikes — strikes in Chicago threatening to make the very conduct of the convention difficult if not impossible — these are the harsh realities.

Humphrey, McCarthy, McGovern, Teddy Kennedy, they are good men. But measured against the turbulence shaking the foundations of order and civility everywhere, they seem to fall short of the terrible demands of the time. That is the reason the delegates in the intial phase are groping through a fog of uncertainty as though somewhere was the man who could lead the way out of the swamp.

Another reason is that the player in the king row is showing his familiar fondness for mystification. On his 60th birthday Lyndon Johnson is moving, as so often in the past, in his mysterious ways to what end no one here in Chicago is quite sure.

The paradox of Lyndon Johnson's career, his place in history, is abundantly clear at this turning point in his life. He has been a doer, a creator, a forward mover and shaker. The domestic record in Congress for the past five years leaves no doubt of that. Whether it was enough in the light of the swift erosion of the old order is another matter.

These achievements are obscured, and this is the essence of the paradox, by the self-defeating qualities of his temperament — that is, by an ego so outsized, complemented by a self-defense mechanism that makes frank and open relationships with colleagues and co-workers all but impossible. Secretive, suspicious, withholding decisions of the highest import from his closest associates and even his family to the last minute, vindictive, jealous, permitting no tree to grow in the shadow of the giant oak — this is the indictment against him.

This same indictment might be brought against almost any man of power in high office. But it applies with special force to Johnson as the time approaches to lay down power.

But that is the past. The power the President still holds must be exercised to try to salvage what can be salvaged for the future. Presumably, this means an heir who would at least respect the Johnson tradition. And, presumably, that heir is Hubert Humphrey, who is nevertheless as mystified as anyone else about the intentions of the player in the king row.

Would Johnson be unhappy if Richard Nixon were elected president?

Consider his position with a Republican president in the White House. Johnson would still be titular leader of his party. It would have been demonstrated that no Democrat had been able to succeed him. There would be no rivalry from a Democratic chief executive calling the turns on policy.

As an ex-president, Johnson would be ideally equipped for the role of elder statesman. The pilgrimmage to the ranch on the Pedernales would be endless. And Nixon would be only too eager to call on his predecssor, just as Johnson has turned to former President Eisenhower, when the going was rough. That familiar photograph of the two conferring together has been a Johnson totem to allay doubts and uncertainties.

Already suspicious Democrats see a Johnson-Nixon axis. The President has ordered not only Nixon himself but five of his associates to be briefed on all foreign-policy developments. When Nixon visited the ranch after his nomination, he gave firm assurance of his opposition to anyone calling for a complete halt in the bombing or unilateral withdrawal from Vietnam. In the diplomatic language of the past, a cordial entente was established.

Judge Recesses Hearing On Tax Petition Challenge

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster District Judge William Hastings Wednesday recessed until Sept. 4 hearing on the case challenging Secretary of State Frank Marsh's decision not to allow the anti-income tax initiative petition on the November ballot.

After stipulations by both parties, Judge Hastings ordered counsel for Marsh to present at that time a report on progress in preparing in written form objections to each signature rejected on petitions filed with Marsh's office.

The agreement to allow the detailed examination of the petitions was reached to expedite proceedings and to eliminate time-consuming objections in open court to each petition individually.

Counsel for Marsh, Asst. Atty. Gen. Calvin Robinson, said that the examination is a "formidable task" and probably will not be completed before next Wednesday.

"We'll be luck to give even a good showing," he said.

Robinson and attorneys for the income tax foes, John A. Wagoner of Grand Island and Ray C. Simmons of Fremont, also agreed that there were "not more than 48,305 signatures." Marsh determined to be valid on July 26 when he handed down his ruling.

Marsh in testifying Wednesday, said that the election calendar published by his office last January listing the July 5 deadline for filing petitions to place an initiative petition on the November ballot is "unofficial."

He said that it is distributed to county clerks for the purpose of coordinating the conduct of elections but is not official.

Supporters of the anti-income tax petition contend that Marsh changed the deadline to July 3 without prior public notice and for this reason 2,655 signatures were thrown out that should have been accepted.

They contend that they believed that July 5 was the deadline and that Marsh should have given them ample notice of the change.

Mrs. Helen Berger of Omaha testified that she attempted to file some petitions at 5:45 p.m. on July 3 after she heard the final date was July 3 instead of July 5.

She said up until July 3 it was her understanding that the deadline for filing was July 5.

Patrol Is Inviting 30 Men To Join Officers' Training

Col. J. E. Kruger of the Nebraska State Patrol announced Thursday that 30 applicants are being invited to participate in basic training for officer candidates beginning Sept. 13.

Kruger said the men who complete the seven-week course on Nov. 1 will then begin six months of in-service training with experienced officers.

The selected candidates:

Lincoln—David R. Gates, James G. Robinson, Cary G Krenk, James L. Menze, James E. Rogers and Donald W. Robertson.

Omaha—Dale R. Hopp, Loren C. Boyens, Charles L. Griffith, James J. Krzemien, Gerald L. Rosendahl, William F. Whear and Charles L. Wisehart.

Other Towns—James N. Avary, Gering; Edwin A. Davidson, Kearney; Jimmy L. Kelly, North Platte; Richard G. McFall, Scottsbluff; Anthony G. Ramold, Nebraska City; Kent R. Roumpf and James M. Besaw, both of Grand Island; Conrad Wilhelm Jr., Minatare; Terry L. Dowling, McCook; Robert W. Howell, LaVista; Terry L. Greeley, Enders, Harold Schenck, St. Paul; Richard A. Reitz, Superior; Marvin N. Fink, Ericson; Donald R. Keiper, Sidney; Harland L. Wood, Oakland, and Wayne L. Michaelis, Adams.

Nebraska Not Filing Antitrust Suits Because Prices Seem To Be Fair

Nebraska hasn't filed antitrust suits against some corporations being sued for price fixing by other states because no evidence has been found that Nebraska was overcharged by the firms, Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer said Wednesday.

Meyer said his office maintains a "continuing interest" in antitrust suits and runs checks periodically on prices it is being charged.

"But the fact is, some other states have used us as an example they were overcharged," he said. Meyer said his department furnished helpful information to the State of Oklahoma, which recently won a multimillion dollar suit against a group of asphalt companies for price fixing.

The State of Iowa also has filed a similar suit.

The attorney general said in another instance, it was found Nebraska was paying 20% less for asphalt than another state.

Other areas in which such suits either have been filed by other states or are being considered by other states include drugs, copper tubing and school books.

Meyer said his office is interested in a proposed Midwest organization which would file and prosecute antitrust suits for states. The persons proposing the organization hope to cut down on the high expenses of pursuing price-fixing cases by sharing the costs between interested states.

But the attorney general said that at present, it doesn't appear Nebraska would have reason to file such a suit since the state itself apparently has not been the victim of price fixing.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Fix-It Man Finds People Stingy, Fussy

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "You quoted some old gal who was moaning because she couldn't find a fix-it man. Following retirement I did this kind of work awhile but never again. People were so tight and persnickity they drove me crazy. When I'd fix their screens they'd come out and inspect the work and complain about maybe one nail being crooked. When I finished a job maybe five minutes less than an hour they wanted to deduct it from my two-doliar hourly rate. And when I asked a few cents extra for screws, nails, or hinges, they'd gripe to high heaven. One woman deducted 10 cents from my bill because I used her phone to call home and tell my wife I'd be late. Brother, I've had it."

A. — It's regrettable that you ran into so many fussy, cantankerous characters Had you stayed in the fix-it field longer you'd have probably discovered many considerate and grateful souls as well. I'm printing your letter as a reminder that in this era of help shortages we must be more understanding and generous with workers willing to serve us.

Q. — "I'm 65 and drawing Social Security, but my wife is only 55. She's nearly blind and has arthritis bad. Can't she draw some disability pay based on my Social Security?"

A. — No, a wife without Social Security credits of her own is not eligible for any benefits based on her husband's coverage until she is at least 62.

Q.—"We're thinking of buying a used mobile home and stashing it permanently in a trailer park in Arizona, California, or Florida. How much will one cost, and what's the usual rent at those places?"

A.—If you shop around you can probably find a good used mobile home for between two and four thousand dollars. The states you mention have hundreds of mobile home parks which take long-staying guests at rates from one to two dollars daily. This usually includes water, electricity, mail service, garbage disposal, and use of recreational facilities. Trailers and mobile homes offer what is generally conceded to be the best bargain of all in retirement housing.

Q.—"You're always talking about cheap housing for old folks. But I'd like a suggestion or two on top-notch dwellings offering the best food and most luxurious surroundings. I haven't been saving money all my life to live in some cubicle with a hot-plate next to the sink."

A.—Your letter is a reminder that some elders—probably 10%—have plenty of money and don't need to stretch dollars. If you want real luxury you can find it in a residential apartment at a first-class hotel.

☆ ☆ ☆

If you would like a booklet, "Trailer Life in Retirement," write to Robert Peterson, c/o Dispatch Letter Service, 25 W. 45th Street, New York, N.Y. 10036, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

First District Ballot Spot To New Party

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Secretary of State Frank Marsh said Wednesday the Nebraska New Party will definitely be on the November ballot in the First Congressional District.

Marsh said a re-examination of the petition submitted to his office showed there are 258 valid signatures on the petition — enough to secure a spot on the ballot.

Earlier, Marsh had said there were only 205 valid signatures because 53 signatures were not those of registered voters.

Not Necessary

However, Marsh said he has since been informed by Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer that the signatures did not have to be those of registered voters to form a new party.

The secretary of state said he has withdrawn his request for an attorney general's opinion on whether 205 signatures would have been enough to secure a place on the ballot.

He had asked the opinion because of a "murky" section in Nebraska law on the formation of a new party.

Young Demos

The Nebraska New Party is largely composed of youthful Democrats who had supported Sen. Eugene McCarthy and the late Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Originally, the New Party sponsors had hoped to have a spot on the ballot in the entire state but failed to garner the necessary 750 signatures earlier this month at an organizing convention in Lincoln.

Dr. Phillip H. Scribner, New Party chairman and University of Nebraska philosophy professor, said he was "very pleased" with Marsh's decision.

Confab Planned

He said a nominating convention is tentatively planned for Sept. 10 at which time the party will make a decision whether to name a congressional candidate in the First District.

Although the New Party cannot name a presidential candidate by nominating convention, Dr. Scribner said Sen. Eugene McCarthy could still be nominated to a fourth party ballot by petition.

He said such move would await the results of the Democratic National Convention.

Eye Petition

"However, if Sen. McCarthy would agree to run on a fourth party ticket, the Nebraska New Party would spearhead a petition effort to secure the necessary 1,000 signatures to put his name on the November ballot in Nebraska."

Dr. Scribner said the petition with 1,000 signatures must be submitted 60 days prior to the November election, and the petition effort "would have to move quickly" to meet the estimated Sept. 7 deadline.

More Hard Of Hearing Children Enter School

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln children born handicapped as a result of the rubella epidemic that erupted in the United States in 1963 are primarily swelling the hard of hearing unit as the first group of affected youths enter school.

The Prescott School hard of hearing unit has registered seven new students so far this year, reported Principal Sanford Nelson.

Last year only three of the 33 accoustically handicapped boys and girls were new to the program, about the same number of new students as in previous years.

Five Others

At least five other families have contacted Nelson about enrolling youngsters this year, but three of them decided to send their children to the Omaha Hearing School.

Some 30,000 children are estimated to be entering American schools in September suffering from handicaps ranging from blindness to mental retardation as a result of their mothers contracting German measles (rubella) during pregnancy.

Although Nebraska was not among the states hardest hit in the epidemic about five years ago, some isolated communities seemed to have been, reported Jack Lamphere, director of special education in the State Department of Education.

Several children in the Valentine area have been identified with handicaps, primarily hearing problems, he noted.

According to Lincoln special education director Dr. Don Sherrill, entering kindergarteners show more hearing problems than anything else. And "most of the mothers had rubella in the first stages of pregnancy."

Sherrill said that the Park School unit of orthopedically and physically handicapped children, which has been "decreasing dramatically in the past few years" will jump from last year's enrollment of 16 to 23 children.

But, he added, "I don't believe rubella was listed as the reason for the handicaps in any of the cases."

No Regular Pre-School

The Lincoln district does not have a pre-school program for visually impaired children, but Mrs. Katherine Duffield, teacher in the privately-operated pre-school here, is not aware of any significant enrollment increase in the class slated to begin next Wednesday.

Because the program for trainable retarded children jointly operated by Educational Service Unit No. 6 and the Lincoln district is new this year, director Charles Falls has no enrollment comparisons that might indicate effects of the rubella epidemic.

He reported that the bulk of the 84 children enrolled so far are 8-to 13 years old. Fifteen are in the 5 to 7-year-old range.

Labor Day Hours

The Nebraska State Historical Society, 1500 R, will be open from 1:30 to 5 p.m. and the Statehood Memorial, 1627 H, will be open from 2 until 5 p.m., on Labor Day, Monday.

Change In Building Height Limit Backed

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday recommended approval of amendments to the airport zoning ordinance and other sections of the city zoning regulations that will allow buildings to be constructed to a height of 275 feet in the J business zoning districts.

The present height limitation is 150 feet.

The amendments were requested by the First National Bank and others who have interest in the proposed construction of a 20-story office building on the northwest corner of 13th and M.

Plans are for the new structure to be 230 feet in height.

Commission members approved the amendments and indicated their concern for "protecting the environs of the State Capitol Building. The height of the capitol, measured to the top of the Sower statue, is 436 feet.

In other action, a requested change of zone to accommodate expansion of Quality Courts Motel at 52nd and O was deferred by the planning commission.

The land in question is owned by Gateway Manor, Inc. and is under special permit use by that corporation. The special permit should be amended to exclude the property to be purchased by Quality Courts, the commission said.

Planning Director Douglas Brogden also recommended that action on the change of zone requested by the motel be taken with an eye toward future expansion plans of Gateway Manor, a home for senior citizens located north of the motel.

C. Bernard Hilgert, general manager of Quality Courts, told the commission of plans to build a two-floor unit containing 70 motel rooms topped by a penthouse for meetings immediately to the north of the Villager Cafeteria, which is part of the existing motel complex.

He said Gateway Maor, Inc., has stated no objection to the requested change of zone and is prepared to transfer title to the property.

The planning commission recommended a change from AA rural and public use to restricted industrial zoning on a 12-acre site located on the west side of Cornhusker Hwy. north of Interstate 80 and adjacent to the municipal airport access road.

The change was requested by Abel Investment Co. The firm wants to reactivate a ready-mixed concrete plant now located on the site.

Abel's original application for heavy industrial zoning was amended by the commission. In order to rebuild the plant, the firm will be required to adhere to more strict regulations relating to height, noise and smoke or dust emission.

Industrial zoning for the Abel tract was opposed by the Lincoln Airport Authority.

Other planning commission recommendations:

—Change of zone from D multiple dwelling to K light industry on the west side of 23rd, north of W, requested by Lincoln Lumber Co., denied.

—Change of zone from A-2 single family dwelling to H-S highway service on the northeast corner of 1st and Superior, requested by Francis Dorenbach, denied.

—Special permit to operate a nursery school at 8320 Elizabeth Drive, requested by Mrs. Jan Johnson, approved.

—Proposed amendment relating to ambulance services by special permit, approved.

—Proposed amendment relating to ambulance service headquarters as a permitted use in certain zoning districts, denied.

—Proposed amendment to the County Zoning Regulations relating to special use permits, deferred until such time as the county board adopts a valid zoning ordinance.

—Sale of city property located on the northeast corner of 70th and Garland, approved.

All Hospital Officers Are Re-Elected

Lincoln attorney Julian (Herb) Hopkins was re-elected president of the Lincoln General Hospital board of trustees here Wednesday.

Board members also re-elected the other officers: Walter Nolte, vice president; Dr. Carl Georgi, secretary, and Robert Dobson, treasurer.

Hopkins reported that the board has had no word from the Lincoln Housing Authority about possible uses of the old Lincoln General Hospital building.

Housing authority officials have examined the former hospital building as a potential complex for senior citizens.

A total of 33 nurses will be added to the Lincoln General staff in September to replace nurses who are leaving and to fill vacant positions. Some 28 of the 33 nurses are graduates of the Lincoln General school, reported administrator Robert Brungard.

In other business Brungard told the board that the hospital is experiencing a "steady growth pattern" over previous years. The average daily census of 155 patients for July, an average of 15 more than last year, is a "substantial increase over the previous July and a good census for a mid-summer month," he said.

New York Delegate Dragged Off Floor

Chicago (AP) — Plainsclothesmen and Chicago police dragged New York delegate Alex Rosenberg from the floor of the Democratic National Convention Wednesday night after Rosenberg refused to show his identification pass.

The ensuing fracas interrupted presidential nomination proceedings for several minutes.

Rosenberg returned to the floor shortly after New York delegation officials identified him and showed the pass to a Chicago police official.

'Goon Squad'

Rosenberg, elected from Manhattan's 19th district, gave this account:

"I was standing by the McCarthy telephone and a sergeant at arms was harassing me. I told them they had no legal right to ask for my pass. I had already punched in through the gate."

"I don't know who they work for — some goon squad."

"We started scuffling and the police came and the plainclothes guy dragged me out."

Delegates 'Abused'

"John Burns (New York delegation chairman) identified me as they dragged me past but they didn't stop. We went to some back room and a chief of detectives came in. I did show the pass to him."

Rosenberg said the security officers had been harassing New York delegates all day. "I think we're being abused. I was not convicted and sent here, I was elected."

Paul O'Dwyer, U.S. Senate candidate in New York, went with Rosenberg to the back room.

'Facist Pigs'

In the rush on about six plainclothesmen and a dozen or so uniformed ushers, it had appeared that several delegates were ousted.

New York delegates, shouting such epithets as "Facist pigs" as the officers drove through the crowd, jumped atop chairs to watch the fracas at the right rear corner of the convention floor Amphitheatre.

Rosenberg said his arm and shoulder were injured slightly.

STATE PAGES READY FOR WORK

Credit Card Beats Security At Convention

Chicago (AP) — Security at the Democratic National Convention is foolproof — or is it?

After delegates and newsmen get through the multiple ring of fences and checkpoints, their credentials are scrutinized by an electronic machine which gives a green light if the card is valid.

The system was supposed to catch all counterfeit credentials, but Wednesday a security guard inserted a credit card and the machine obligingly gave him a green light.

"That's how good this system is," the guard muttered.

500 Accidents Foreseen On Nebraska Roads

Nebraska Accident Records Bureau Chief Tom Ryan estimated Wednesday there will be 500 accidents, six to eight deaths and 275 injuries on Nebraska highways during the upcoming Labor Day weekend.

"This estimate is not a scare tactic to keep motorists off the road during the holiday," Ryan said. "but is a realistic projection of what can and will happen unless motorists themselves decide otherwise by complying with all the rules of the road and using common sense driving habits."

He pointed out that the Labor Day weekend is the most dangerous of all holidays and added Nebraska's problem will be compounded by the large number of persons expected to be traveling to the State Fair in Lincoln.

Last year there were 384 accidents, five deaths and 3 injuries over the weekend beginning at 6 a.m. Friday and ending midnight Monday.

Nebraska has experienced only one highway deathfree Labor Day weekend, that was in 1936.

Nebraska State Patrol head Col. James Kruger also appealed to motorists to drive cautiously.

"Safe driving involves nothing fancy — just old-fashioned common sense, the determination to be careful and observing the basic driving rules," he said.

NU Band Director Seeks New Talent

Do you enjoy music, like to travel, prefer to be a flashy dresser and want to perform on television and before large, enthusiastic audiences?

Young men attending the University of Nebraska this fall who can answer "yes" to these questions should contact Prof. Jack R. Snider, director of the Cornhusker Marching Band.

Snider is seeking new talent to fill out his 180-man organization which plays at Cornhusker football games, a number of Nebraska parades and will make an appearance on national television this season at the half-time of the Nebraska-Oklahoma football game in Norman.

Nebraska Demos Claim Voters Ignored

. . . SAY VIETNAM PLANK ACTION ASSURES GOP VICTORY

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Chicago — Young Nebraska Democratic delegates who watched in sorrow as the national convention rejected the Vietnam minority report Wednesday said the party has ignored the expressed will of the nation's voters and assured Republican victory in the fall.

Nebraska voted 19 to 11 in support of the minority peace plank, and a scuffle later ensured on the floor when the state's banner was taken into a peace parade after adjournment of the dramatic afternoon session.

"That destroys the party," Gene Pokorny of Howells said.

"I will continue to work within the Democratic Party, but in the new one. This one's done."

What the convention really did on Vietnam, Pokorny said, is "guarantee the biggest Republican victory in decades."

Pokorny, 22, is a supporter of Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

Thomas Dean, 22, of Scottsbluff, said the party is "now headed for the kind of donneybrook which the Republican Party suffered in 1964."

Dean, also a McCarthy delegate, said the 11 Nebraskans who voted against the minority plank "betrayed those Democrats who voted for Senator McCarthy and Senator Kennedy in the primary election."

Together, Kennedy and McCarthy won nearly 85% of the Democratic vote in Nebraska last May.

The peace plank was "all we had left," Jacqueline Nielsen, 26, of Omaha, said.

"Nebraska voted for peace."

But, in Chicago, "we had to watch the vote of the people for our dead leaders ignored." Miss Nielsen was an early supporter of Kennedy.

Not Only Young

The sorrow over the results of the floor battle was not confined to the young.

Hans Jensen, 70, of Aurora, the delegation chairman, said the Vietnam plank "does not leave much choice for the people between Humphrey and Nixon."

And the decision will be "a real serious blow" for the election hopes of the Democratic nominee, Jensen predicted.

Richard Swenson of Omaha, a Humphrey delegate, thought otherwise.

"It was the only thing that could be done," he maintained.

Supporters of the majority plank want the president "to be able to do anything possible, consistent with the responsibilities that we have, to stop the war," Swenson said.

The battle over Nebraska's banner began when Larry Doyle of Lincoln took it from David Evans of Omaha, who had carried the sign into the midst of the peace demonstration which followed adjournment.

Evans said Doyle told him that National Committeewoman Maurine Biegert had instructed him to return the banner to its standard. Doyle is an alternate delegate.

Tug-Of-War

Later, Kurt Rasmussen of Omaha engaged in a tug-of-war with Doyle. Finally, the banner was ripped free from the standard and hustled into the parade to the cheers of the demonstrators.

"I've had it up to here," Doyle said. "I don't think the people of Nebraska would approve."

The 19 to 11 Nebraska vote adhered closely to the results of the first delegation poll on the issue late Tuesday night.

All of the delegates who were unwilling to declare themselves in the earlier 19 to 2 test vote lined up on the side of the pro-administration majority report.

Green Walks Out Of Convention In Protest Over Plank On Vietnam

Lincoln Star Special

Chicago — John Green of Omaha, son of the late James F. Green, walked out of the Democratic National Convention in protest of the party's action on Vietnam.

Young Green was to have served the Nebraska delegation as a page at Thursday night's convention session.

"I will turn in my credentials and leave," he said, "because this is not what Bob Kennedy or my dad died for."

'Matter of Life'

Speaking of the Vietnam issues, Green said that "this is no longer politics, but is a matter of men's lives.

"The purpose of the open convention that was sought by a minority here was not to stop Hubert Humphrey. It was to stop the war.

"But the majority decision here is not to stop the war, but is aimed at an even more hawkish position.

'Cannot Support'

"I cannot support what I feel is wrong."

The late Mr. Green was state co-chairman of the Nebraska campaign of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. He was, also, chairman of the Nebraska national delegation and was continued as such even after his death — a tribute paid him by John Green also objected that neither he nor his sister, Mary Kay, have been given credentials to attend the convention by anyone in the Nebraska delegation. Both have gotten into the convention hall with credentials obtained through friends in the South Dakota delegation, Green said.

Mary Kay, said Green, was supposed to be the delegation secretary but has not been assigned to assist the delegation at any time in the convention hall.

Disgraceful Treatment

New York (UPI) — Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS), called disgraceful the treatment of newsmen covering the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Primary States' Delegates Back Vietnam Peace Plank

Lincoln Star Special

Chicago — Delegates from presidential primary states, including Nebraska, voted overwhelmingly Wednesday for the so called Vietnam peace plank turned down by the Democratic National Convention.

The vote from primary states dramatized the argument used by Nebraska delegates who maintained that the convention disregarded the expressed will of Democratic voters.

"I don't see how this party can be so unresponsive to the will of the people," Thomas Dean of Scottsbluff declared.

Dissatisfaction

Primary victories for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Eugene McCarthy, the two antiwar presidential aspirants who carried their Vietnam views into the spring and summer confrontations, demonstrated the electorate's dissatisfaction with administration policy, it was argued.

A look at Wednesday's vote on the minority report on Vietnam shows 330 delegates from contested presidential primary states supported the proposal, compared to 80-1-2 votes cast in support of the pro-administration majority views.

Whereas Nebraska voted 19-11 for the minority plank, other primary states won by Senator Kennedy cast the following votes:

California: 166 to 6 in favor.

South Dakota: 26 to 9 in favor.

Indiana: 15 to 47½ against the minority plank.

In states won by McCarthy, the count showed: Wisconsin, 52 to 7 in favor; Oregon, 29 to 6 in favor.

New Hampshire

In New Hampshire, the first primary state, where President Johnson won a write-in plurality but McCarthy ran a close second and captured a majority of the delegates, the vote was 23 to 3 for the minority plank.

The final decision to endorse the pro-administration position was "a contradiction of what we have been hearing from the people," Hans Jensen of Aurora said.

The vote on Vietnam followed a tumultuous afternoon of drama and debate, punctuated by chants of "stop the war" and concluded with a mass signing of "We Shall Overcome" by antiwar delegates.

Sorensen, McGee

Among the orators who presented arguments on the issue were former Nebraskans Ted Sorensen and Sen. Gale McGee.

Sorensen, who with Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon summed up arguments in favor of the minority plank, told the convention the anti war proposal is consistent with the wishes of Democratic voters as expressed in the primaries.

It is a proposal "on which any Democrat — could and should run with pride," Sorensen said.

But "this is not a question of presidential politics," he declared. "It is a question of prinicple."

The majority plank, he insisted, is "one on which Richard Nixon or even Barry Goldwater could run with principle."

For Majority

McGee spoke for the majoirty plank, arguing that it would give the next president the free options he needs "to lead for peace."

Those options must be available to the president, the Wyoming senator said.

The Nebraska vote on the minority plank:

Against: Marvin Werve, Warren Otto, Selwyn Heese, Maurine Biegert, Jerry Kromberg, Richard Swenson, Jim Quigley, Donald Jensen, Bryce Bartu. Kurt Rasmussen, Samuel Cooper (alternate voting for Mary Cunningham).

Damage To Home From Fire Listed As 'Considerable'

Lincoln firemen said a fire at 5340 N Wednesday afternoon caused "considerable fire damage" to the kitchen and smoke damage to other sections of the house.

Firemen said that the fire broke out in the kitchen area surrounding the stove and spread through the cupboards and cabinets.

Smoke from the fire caused considerable damage to other parts of the house including the draperies and furniture in the living room, firemen said.

A spokesman from the Fire Department said that the fire could have started from grease drippings on the stove, but the actual cause is still under investigation.

Bomb Threat

Copenhagen (UPI) — Police bomb squads scoured a television studio building after an anonymous caller said the place would be blown up if the Russian opera "Don Juan" was shown as scheduled. Police found no bomb and the opera was televised.

U.S. Ambassador Mein Killed In Guatemala City

Guatemala (AP) — U.S. Ambassador John Gordon Mein was machine-gunned to death Wednesday on a street of Guatemala City by unknown assassins. The attack on the 54-year-old ambassador occurred as he was driving alone from his home to the embassy.

The ambassador's car was apparently intercepted by a vehicle carrying assassins who blocked the intersection.

Mein apparently tried to escape but was cut down by bullets a few yards from his car.

Career Diplomat

Mein, a career diplomat, is survived by his widow, Elizabeth Clay Mein, and three children.

Guatemala has been the scene of periodic terrorism, including attacks on American officials.

Last Jan. 16 leftists killed two American diplomats a few blocks from where the attack on Mein occurred.

Terrorist Killings

The daylight terrorist killings underscored the savagery of civil warfare that was believed to have taken more than 1,000 lives — perhaps as many as 4,000 — since President Julio Cesar Montenegro took over in July, 1966.

Extremist groups of both the right and the left have been reported behind the bloodshed, with gangster elements profiting from both sides.

In Washington, the State Department said President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and all the colleagues of Mein were "shocked and grieved by the slaying."

A spokesman said the United States "will request the government of Guatemala to conduct a full investigation of all the circumstances of the tragedy."

A veteran of service in Europe, Asia and Latin America, Mein was named to the Guatemala post by President Johnson in 1965. Before that he was deputy chief of mission in Rio de Janeiro.

Young Son Of Banker Kidnaped

Beverly Hills, Calif. (AP) — The 4-year-old son of a Beverly Hills banker was kidnaped Wednesday by a man who posed as a workman, police reported.

Police Chief Clinton Anderson said the man told the boy's mother he would "call about the ransom later."

The chief declined to say whether such a call had been received.

FBI Called

He said the FBI had been called in on the case.

Missing is Stanley Stalford Jr., son of the board chairman of Fidelity Bank.

Anderson, in an early afternoon appearance outside the Stalford home, read a brief statement but declined to answer questions or give details.

He said that in the morning, when the mother and son were alone in the house, a man in blue workman's clothes appeared at the door, said he was working at the house next door, and asked to be admitted to check some equipment.

Car Stolen

Once inside Anderson said, the man ordered the mother, Joan, to give him the keys to the family's blue and white 1968 Cadillac, then left in the car with the boy.

Anderson said Mrs. Stalfrod reported the man drew a blue steel revolver and said "This is a stickup, I want money. Where is the safe?" When Mrs. Stalford said she didn't have money, Anderson said, the man retorted that he wanted lots of money and would call later about a ransom.

Then he forced the woman into a closet and, ignoring her screams, had her tape her legs and he taped her hands, Anderson said.

Similar Case

Asked about a report that he had said the man told Mrs. Stalford he wanted a ransom of $250,000 in $20 bills, the chief said the man "may have" mentioned this before he left the house. He did not elaborate.

Nigerian Army Said Advancing

Lagos (AP) — Federal spokesmen said Wednesday the Nigerian army was advancing on all fronts after the supreme commander, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, ordered a final assault to crush secessionist Biafra.

"The final assault has begun," said a Gowon aide. He did not divulge details of the fighting.

Satellite Launched

Moscow (AP) — The Soviet Union launched an unmanned satellite that appeared to be a test run for a spaceship. The craft is called Cosmos 238.

Hubert, Muriel Almost Forget LBJ's Birthday

Chicago (AP) — The Hubert H. Humphreys almost forgot to send off that birthday telebram to President Johnson Tuesday.

The vice president's wife, Muriel, was asked at a luncheon whether greetings had gone to LBJ, celebrating his 60th at the Texas White House.

"Oh, gosh, I forgot to remind Hubert of that," she replied. The happy birthday wishes were dispatched within the hour.

'Intellectual' Wins Custody Of His Son

Santa Cruz, Calif. (AP) — Harold Painter, writer-photographer whose home the Iowa Supreme Court ruled was too "intellectually stimulating" for child raising, won permanent custody Wednesday of his son Mark, 10.

After Mark's mother was killed in a 1962 car accident, his maternal grandparents cared for him, refused to give him back and were upheld by the Iowa Supreme Court.

The Iowa court ruled that the father, Harold Painter, a writer-photographer, had a "bohemian approach" to life.

At a 20-minute hearing, Superior Court Judge Gilbert B. Perry told the father, who has since remarried, "There is nothing particularly complicated about this, Mr. Painter. The foundation of our society is the family."

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Bannister, did not contest the action and were not represented at the hearing. The grandparents dropped all action after Mark said recently he wanted to live with his father.

After the hearing, asked if he were happy, he blurted out simply, "Yes."

Odds On Nixon

London (UPI) — Ladbroke's bookmakers quoted 6-4 odds on Richard Nixon to win the presidential election. Odds remained even on the then-unnamed Democratic candidate.

Hearing Set For Dudek; Faces Assault Charges

David City (AP) — A preliminary hearing has been scheduled in Butler County Court Friday Sept. 20, for Frank Dudek, about 57, Schuyler businessman, charged with resisting, abusing and assaulting Butler County Sheriff Leo F. Meister with a deadly weapon.

The charge was filed by the County Attorney John G. Tomek as the outgrowth of an incident Saturday night Aug. 24.

Tomek said officers, armed with a search warrant, raided what he termed a "teen-age beer party at a cabin on the Butler County side of the Platte River south of Schuyler."

County Judge J. C. Hranac released Dudek on $5,000 bond.

County Court records showed four other similar complaints have been filed charging Dudek with resisting, abusing and assaulting two members of the Nebraska State Patrol, Don Ling and Charles Lacey, an officer of the State Liquor Commission, Charles Homolka; and a state conservation officer, Lester Johnson.

The weapon referred to in all five complaints was a high powered rifle.

Mrs. D. J. Pope, Ex-Head Dental Society, Is Dead

Sutton — Funeral services for Mrs. David J. (Lydia) Pope, prominent Sutton resident, will be 1:30 p.m. Friday at the Kohler Mortuary at Sutton. Mrs. Pope died Tuesday at Sutton.

Born in Sutton, she was a lifetime resident of this community except for a short stay in Lincoln while attending the Lincoln School of Commerce.

Mrs. Pope served as state president of the Nebraska State Dental Auxiliary in 1951-52 and was a delegate to the National Dental Auxiliary convention in 1966. She was a past president of the Sutton Federated Woman's Club, the Clay County Federated Women's Club, and a past district officer.

For many years she was a Girl Scout leader and was active in the local American Legion Auxiliary as well as other civic groups. She was a member of the Salem Reform Church.

On July 5, 1968, she and her husband observed their golden wedding anniversary.

Surviving are her husband, Dr. David J. Pope, Sutton dentist; daughters, Mrs. Vincent P. (Maxine) Blinde and Mrs. R. Neale (Olive) Copple, both of Lincoln, and Mrs. C. Elwood (Suzanne) Pankonin of Louisville; sisters, Mrs. L. T. Shirk, Setma Schwarz, Mrs. Cora Elfring and Mrs. E. M. Stephens, all of Lincoln; and five grandchildren.

CPPD Reports Sales Up 6.2 Pct.

Columbus (AP) — Consumers Public Power District reported that for the 12-month period ended June 30 sales of electricity were up 6.2%.

Operating revenues were up slightly compared with the previous year and operating expenses were down slightly.

Consumers reported a gain of 2,070 customers for the year.

Pincher Sought

Banbury, England (AP) — Police are on the lookout for a Jack-the-Pincher, right-handed and about 20 years old, who operates silently among the miniskirted.

It started out as a simple peanut.

Like most products or ideas, peanuts started out plain and simple. And in most cases they would have remained that way but for the lively competition of nationally advertised brand names. The kind of competition that's turned the peanut into all the things it is today.

Brand names are what manufacturers call their products. You see them on every package. These product names compete with one another. Try to offer more. More variety. Satisfaction. Consistent quality. Value. And they let you know about it through advertising. Let you know the facts. And if they don't live up to what they say they don't have their names for very long. When brand names compete, products get better. Ever notice?

Police Seeking Two Swindlers

. . . Got $2,500 From Woman

By DAN LOOKER
Star Staff Writer

Police are looking for two men who recently swindled an elderly Lincoln woman of $2,500 by telling her they were investigating a bank irregularity, police said.

The woman, who lives near 25th and D, was phoned by a man who claimed to be working for her bank and was asked to withdraw her money, police said.

According to the police, he told her he was going to mark the money so the bank could catch employes who had been taking money from savings accounts.

Picked Up Money

Another man, who said he was from the police department and called himself "Sgt. Schriver," picked up the money from the woman, police reports said.

According to the reports, he offered her a $100 reward for her aid and told her not to say anything to the bank.

Inspector Sawdon of the Lincoln Police Dept. said the woman was apparently the victim of one of several rings of swindlers in the U.S. who normally use hit and run tactics from city to city.

He said that an 84-year-old woman was also contacted the same day as the first woman by people who were probably the same men, but she was saved from losing her money because she called the police to verify their story.

'Popular Con Game'

"This is a very popular type of con game," Sawdon added. The last time a similar case occured in Lincoln was in July when a swindling attempt was unsuccessful.

"We certainly urge people to investigate such contacts before turning over any money," he said. "People should check at least two places in circumstances like this — their bank and the Police Department."

He added that banks don't operate the way that the con men did and that the police do not investigate bank irregularities.

"We urge people to contact the police if anything seems suspicious in a case like this," Sawdon added.

Chamber Reaffirms Support Of Community College Plan

The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce board of directors Wednesday reaffirmed its position of favoring the concept of a community college for the city.

The Chamber, among other organizations, endorsed the creation of a post-high school, vocational-general education institution in 1966. The proposition failed to gain the needed 55% majority vote in a special election that year.

The Lincoln Board of Education intends to submit the community college question to a vote this November, however, official petitions calling for a ballot position have not been filed as yet.

No Duplication

John Prasch, Lincoln superintendent of schools, noted that the board of education has "no intent or desire to duplicate facilities, programs or opportunities being offered."

The community college, he told the chamber, will fill the gap in existing educational services — chiefly in the area of solving unmet vocational training needs.

Opposition to a community college as evidenced in the last election was "bred of misunderstanding," Prasch said, and was based on the mistaken idea that the new institution would be primarily academic and liberal arts in nature.

No Empire

"Life would be easier for your present board of education and school administration if you'd all vote no," he quipped. He said the education board is not "empire building" in planning for a community college.

In other Chamber action, past president Donald Parker reported that when all revenues are in and bills paid, the Chamber "might end up with a couple of thousand dollars" over and above expenses incurred in promoting the National AAU outdoor swimming and diving championships at Woods Pool earlier this month.

The Chamber board commended meet director Wendell Groth and Chamber members who contributed heavily in bringing off the event.

Attendance Hit

Parker noted that the "attendance was not up to what we had hoped for. That the people of Lincoln don't appreciate watching this type of thing is something I can't understand . . . so few people saw it that it made me heartsick."

The board approved a change in the agreement with the Roller Skate Rink Operators of America that provides for cancellation of a contract that calls for the organization's championships to be held in Lincoln next year in exchange for a commitment by RSROA that the event will be held in Lincoln in 1970.

A. James Ebel, chairman of the conventions committee, observed that the problem of the lack of adequate motel and hotel space "should be partially or completely solved by 1970." It was the lack of sufficient space that prompted RSROA to ask for cancelation of the 1969 contract.

Eye Parking

Ebel also called for a "thorough study" of the parking situation around Pershing Auditorium.

Bob Johnson, ong-time Lincoln television announcer, was given his third Life Membership award for service to the Contact Club, the chamber's membership organization.

Lincoln Tractor Operator Listed 'Fair' At Hospital

A 39-year-old Lincoln construction worker was reported in "fair" condition Wednesday night at a local hospital after being injured in a constructiion accident.

Police said that Daryl D. Burns of 4200 Cornhusker Hwy. was injured Wednesday morning when a wall in a building being torn down between N and M on 10th St. collapsed on him.

Burns was driving a caterpillar tractor at the time of the mishap, police said.

Officers said that the south wall of the former tavern on 10th St. collapsed across Burns as he cleared debris from the center of the building area.

Daley Is Accused Of Gestapo Tactics

Chicago (AP) — Demonstrations that swept Chicago streets Wednesday night cast their heat on the Democratic National Convention with angry delegates accusing Mayor Richard J. Daley of Gestapo tactics.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut led the charge on the tight security measures as he placed the name of Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota into nomination for president.

"With George McGovern as President of the United States we wouldn't have to have Gestapo tactics in the streets of Chicago," said Ribicoff, his voice rising.

Colorado Delegate

A Colorado delegate, Robert Maytag of Colorado Springs, set off the round of criticism by shouting into a microphone from the floor: "Is there any rule under which Mayor Daley can be compelled to end the police state of terror being perpetrated?"

Frank Mankiewicz, former press secretary to the assassinated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, continued the theme. In seconding McGovern's nomination. Makiewicz spoke of "nightsticks and tear gas and the mindless brutality we have seen on our television screens tonight and on this convention floor."

Next Philip Stern, a delegate from the District of Columbia, took the rostrum to nominate the Rev. Channing Phillips, a Negro pastor, for president.

'Barbed Wire'

Stern told the delegates: "When you return downtown tonight, look about you at the barbed wire and the helmets and the boots."

Daley sat impassively in front of the rostrum with the Illinois delegation — even when Ribicoff, looking directly at the mayor, said: "How hard it is, how hard it is to accept the truth."

Later, Daley told Associated Press newsman Richard Ciccone: "The security needed to prevent violence. The same forces creating disorder outside the convention hall are creating it inside."

Newsman Arrested

"Who is creating the disorder, Mr. Mayor?" Ciccone asked.

"You are," Daley said, waving the newsman away.

CBS reported, meanwhile, that Mike Wallace, one of its newsmen, was arrested after an encounter with a police inspector at the hall.

Walter Cronkite said Wallace was struck in the face during the incident, which followed a disturbance involving a New York delegate.

Wallace said the officer shook hands later, Cronkite said, and agreed to forget the incident. Wallace was released.

LESTER MADDOX

Gov. Maddox Won't Back Ticket

Chicago (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox withdrew as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination Wednesday and headed back to Georgia promising to campaign against the party's nominee in the general election.

As Maddox ended his 10-day candidacy, which never had the support of more than a handful of Democratic National Convention delegates, he sought without success to withdraw convention credentials of Georgia regulars who agreed to sit alongside a rival slate headed by Negro State Rep. Julian Bond.

Maddox denounced the convention's decision to split Georgia's votes evenly between Bond's slate and the regulars he and State Chairman James Gray had selected. About one-third of the 64 regulars had walked out Tuesday night when the convention adopted the compromise seating plan.

At a news conference, Maddox said he talked Tuesday night with former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama. He left open the possibility he would campaign openly for Wallace's third-party presidential bid, saying he would have an announcement next week.

Maddox, asked whether he would support Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon, replied: "I wouldn't leave the Democratic Party, the state party anyway."

Mayor Daley Charged With Packing Hall

Chicago (AP) — Pierre Salinger, supporter of Sen. George S. McGovern for the Democratic presidential nomination, accused Mayor Richard J. Daley, Wednesday night of packing the national convention with pro-administration spectators.

Salinger said police hustled off a McGovern worker who protested that persons without credentials were being admitted to the Amphitheatre.

"The galleries are packed with Mr. Daley's ward heelers," said Salinger, former press secretary to Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

'Arbitrary Change'

Salinger said there was "no question that the rules of this convention have been changed arbitrarily by the mayor." He noted that the national committee had voted against floor demonstrations.

When advised of the accusation, Daley asked: "Who's Pierre Salinger?"

"A delegate from California," the mayor was told.

"Never heard of him," he replied.

Buses loaded with people obviously unfamiliar with the Amphitheatre arrived at about 7:30 p.m. and the new arrivals were furnished with news media credentials as they entered the building.

Promptly Seated

Bearing quantities of Humphrey placards under their arms, the visitors marched upstairs and were promptly seated in the radio-television galleries.

When a reporter asked one of them what news media they represented, he muttered: "Fifth Ward, Fifth Ward."

A bona fide reporter with the same type of credentials was turned away at an entrance to the gallery with the explanation that there were no more seats.

"Don't know anything about it," said Daley.

2 Czech Radios Cease To Use Label Of 'Free'

Vienna, Austria (AP) — Radio Prague and Radio Czechoslovakia No. 1 ceased calling themselves "free" transmitters Wednesday as they had done since the start of the Soviet bloc occupation.

Only provincial stations such as Danube and North Moravia are still broadcasting under the label of "Free Legal Transmitters."

The impression in Vienna was that the two radios were following an official line dictated by the Russians.

Czech President Says Soviet Withdrawal Will Take Months

By TAD SZULC

Prague — President Ludvik Svoboda told his cabinet Wednesday that, under the Moscow agreement announced Tuesday, the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Czechoslovakia would take "several months and stages" and that at least two divisions would remain permanently stationed on the West German border.

The authoritative sources that provided the account of the cabinet meeting at Hradcany Castle also quoted the president as informing the ministers that no exact date had been set to begin the withdrawl of the forces of the Soviet Union and the four other Warsaw Pact countries that invaded Czechoslovakia one week ago.

In a speech to the nation Wednesday night, Premier Oldrich Cernik announced that the cabinet session had drafted a proposal to the Soviet Union, Poland, Hungary, Bulgaria and East Germany, whose forces are occupying Czechoslovakia, to begin "soon" the actual negotiations for the departure of their armies.

Economic Talks

He said that within two weeks "economic talks with the Soviet Union are to begin during which the compensation for the damages" caused by the invasion would be discussed among other topics.

Czechoslovakia had long been seeking hard currency credits from the Soviet Union to modernize her industry.

According to informants at the same cabinet session, Col. Gen. Martin Jzur, the defense minister, estimated the total number of foreign troops in Czechoslovakia at 650,000, a figure vastly higher than the earlier calculations by Western observers.

Bitter Reaction

The settlement, which, according to the official communique, provides for the departure of the occupying troops when the situation in Czechoslovakia becomes "normalized," was greeted with dismay in this country.

The first bitter reaction Tuesday was that it bordered on capitulation and would result in a gradual but certain smashing of the Czechoslovak democratizing experiment.

The Czechoslovak leadership, however, has been striving desperately to persuade the nation that the agreement was the only one possible under the circumstances.

Judge Dies

Milwauke (UPI) — County Judge John E. Krueger died nine hours after he had locked himself in a washroom off his chambers and shot himself.

'Absurd Theatre'

Berlin (UPI) — Neues Deutschland, the East German Communist Party newspaper, described the Democratic Convention as "an absurd theatre behind barbed wire" pledged to promote imperialism.

Germany Calls For Pullback

© New York Times Service

Bonn — The West German government Wednesday called for the complete restoration of Czechoslovak sovereignty and the pullback of all Soviet and Warsaw Pact invasion forces from Czechoslovakia.

Until Wednesday, the federal government had maintained an official silence on the Czech invasion for fear of aggravating delicate negotiations between Moscow and the liberal Prague leadership.

Bonn's hard-line position was hammered out during a two-hour cabinet meeting presided over by Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger.

Moscow Accord

An agreement announced Tuesday in Moscow permits the present Czech leaders to remain in power, but with a strict control over press and radio and with only a staged withdrawal of Soviet and other Warsaw Pact occupation troops.

It is widely believed here that Soviet troops will remain indefinitely along the Czech-West German border.

Soviet tanks made their first appearance at the border Tuesday. Bavarian state police reports from Munich said the tanks withdrew 10 miles inside Czechoslovakia Wednesday morning. But Soviet army officers overseeing Czech customs and security officers were left behind at all major frontier checkpoints.

Communique

The communique issued after the cabinet meeting attempted to reassure West Germans that the Soviet forces along the border posed no immediate danger.

"The safety of the Federal Republic," it said, "is guaranteed by the North Atlantic Treaty powers, who are in a position to defend the freedom and security of all its members."

The statement added that the cabinet was weighing new proposals for the "political and military strengthening" of the NATO alliance.

4-H Exhibitors' Banquet Saturday

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann will be the speaker at the 34th annual State Fair 4-H Exhibitors' Banquet sponsored by Gold and Company, Lincoln.

An estimated 600 Nebraska 4-H exhibitors will attend the banquet which will be held at 6 p.m. Saturday, instead of the previously announced Monday, Sept. 2, date. The banquet will be in the second floor cafeteria of Golds, according to Ross Elliott, sales coordinator, Golds.

The 4-H exhibitors will also hear a welcoming address from Lincoln's Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

A warm and sunny morning on the flashing blue Pacific. A silk breeze blows over the sun-splashed decks. The sky is clear blue, a pillow fight of fat white clouds floating on the horizon.

The SS President Wilson is steaming smoothly at 20 knots for Honolulu and sing-song ports of the Orient.

There is a wash-wash sound of water along the hull. Flying fish go skittering off the white bow wave. The deck carries the movement of the water, the light tremor of the propellors turning.

High above the boat deck, the red-and-blue stack with APL's white eagle and stars, sends the engines' gasp into an endless sky.

☆ ☆ ☆

While the jet planes whistle overhead, the Pacific ships are turning from pure transportation to cruise business. Floating resort hotels to the faraway places with strange sounding names.

As we were sailing, American President Lines announced a radical switch from present passenger routes to cruises.

South Pacific cruises to Bali, Singapore, Tahiti, Samoa, Fiji, New Zealand and Australia.

Circle Pacific cruises to the same ports, returning through Singapore, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Guam and Honolulu.

Thirteen-day Alaskan cruises. A Christmas cruise to Acapulco. Eight-day Canadian cruises. Orient cruises of 41 days. The 90-day round-the-world cruise will go both east and west, stopping in 23 ports enroute.

☆ ☆ ☆

APL thinks this routing is the answer to luxury liner business in the jet age.

It's the business of Warren Titus who came from Hawaii's Castle and Cooke to British P and O Line and now to APL

He is obviously competing with vacation resorts — $28 a day first-class, $18 economy.

"Our new routes are cruise routes," Titus said in the announcement. "Our new schedules are cruise schedules. Our shipboard programs are cruise-oriented. Everything is pointed at what we consider the logical market for steamships today."

☆ ☆ ☆

The SS President Wilson is sailing with 540 passengers — (135 are children) — and it would seem less than half are cruise people.

There are military people being transferred.

Far East residents, native and American, returning home.

Businessmen bound for Honolulu, making the trip a five-day vacation before going into the conference rooms.

With the new policy, this will all be changed. Pleasure passengers will be the greater number.

☆ ☆ ☆

Will the queenly luxury liner compete with the low-fare jet carrying almost as many passengers? Slamming through the sky. Landing its people in Honolulu while the cruise ship (leaving at the same time) can still see the lights of the California coast?

The ship people think so. Hope so.

I must say it's a relaxed life. While the sun was setting (and the jet that left with us was coming into Honolulu over Diamond Head), we had cocktails on deck. Who's in a hurry now?

At breakfast (while the plane had come back to San Francisco and flown over to Honolulu again), the morning water was washed with golden sun. There's a pleasant feeling, five warm days to live without haste.

☆ ☆ ☆

There's the smell of salt and steam and wet wooden deck. The fragrance of hot, black coffee while the warm morning air pours over the ship.

Sunset. A shower of gold pours down the sky.

And the long, quiet night with blue diamond stars thrown carelessly across the black velvet heaven.

One Day When You Haven't Anything To Do Catch Yourself An Eel And Try This Recipe

BY CRAIG CLAIBORNE
(c) New York Times Service

Martha's Vineyard, Mass.—Mrs. Isaac Taylor and her husband, Dean of the University of North Carolina School of Medicine, have summered here with their children for 16 years. Their home, built on "a relic sheep pasture," is a bright and airy place of wood and glass. It has a stonewall pond beyond the front door, the rock-bound Atlantic outside the kitchen, and there is never a want for fresh fish from one source or the other.

"This eel," she said as she lifted the top of a large red kettle, "is from the pond. Isaac tried to catch it with hook and line, but it refused to be taken. He finally caught it in a borrowed eel pot.

"I don't like to fish, but I like to dig clams — steamers and quahogs.

"Yesterday," her tall, barefoot husband, a native of North Carolina, added, "I got a clam a minute. Eighty minutes, 80 clams."

Mrs. Taylor plunged a refrigerator tray full of fresh, already cleaned mussels into a basin of salt water, churned them around and around in the brine to remove further evidence of sand. She does this in at least three changes of salt water.

"I do it," she says, "with both mussels and clams."

The fish in Mrs. Taylor's bouillabaisse are all local and include scrod, fluke and black bass.

"This dish," she explained, "can be made in any coastal area where you can get fresh fish. You can subsitute any light, white, non-oil fish such as mackerel or bluefish for those I've used. You can add shrimp, too, in place of lobster and with fresh crab, if it is available, it's delicious."

Here is Trudy Taylor's stonewall bouillabaisse:

3 pounds fresh fluke or flounder, with bones, heads, tail
3 pounds black bass, sea bass or striped bass with bones, heads, tail
2 pounds scrod with bones, heads, tail
1 whole eel
6 one-pound to one-and-one-half-pound steamed lobsters
80 mussels, scrubbed and cleaned
80 Littleneck or Cherrystone clams, the smaller the better
½ cup olive oil
2 medium-size onions, finely chopped
6 shallots, finely minced
2 cloves garlic, finely minced
1 bay leaf
¼ teaspoon chopped fresh or dried thyme
¼ teaspoon crushed fennel seeds
½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
Salt to taste
¼ teaspoon leaf saffron, crusher cayenne pepper to taste
1 two-inch piece fresh orange rind
½ gallon dry white wine
3 cups heavy cream.

1. Have the fluke, black bass, scrod or whatever fish are used cut into fillets but reserve the bones, heads and tails. Cut the fillets into serving pieces and set aside.

2. Have the eel skinned and cleaned. Set aside.

3. Steam the lobsters and set aside.

4. Toss the mussels and clams into separate basins of plain water to which salt has been added. Drain and set aside.

5. Heat the oil in a large kettle or steamer and cook the onions, shallots and garlic, stirring, until onion is wilted. Add bay leaf, thyme, fennel seeds, peper, salt, saffron, cayenne, orange rind and wine. Add the reserved eel, fish bones, heads and tails. Cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, about 2 minutes. Drain in a colander, pressing with a wooden spoon to extract most of the liquid. Rinse out the kettle. Discard the solids in the colander.

6. Add the liquid to the kettle. Bring to a boil and add the reserved pieces of fish fillets. Cook gently five minutes or until fish flakes easily. Do not overcook. Using a slotted spoon or other skimmer, carefully remove the fish from the kettle; cover with foil or plastic wrap to keep warm.

7. Add the mussels and clams to the kettle and cover. Simmer until shells open, 8 to 10 minutes. Add the cream and bring just to a boil but do not boil. If desired, add salt and pepper to taste.

8. Pour the contents of the kettle into a very large, hot serving bowl. Add the reserved fish fillets. Garnish the bowl with the lobster meat and lobster claws stuck upright into he mussels and clams. Serve immediately in hot soup bowls with crusty French bread and a chilled white wne.

Yield: 14 servings.

Ideas

SHORTCAKE SEASON IS HERE — A crunchy complement for fresh strawberries, peaches or blueberries is a shortcake base with baked-in almonds. When preparing a sponge-type cake base or biscuit dough, add ⅓ cup chopped almonds to the dry ingredients. Then, proceed as directed. For more almond flavor, top the fresh fruit with whipped cream flavored with almond extract.

THE LIGHT TOUCH — Muffin and pancake batters require very little mixing. After pouring liquid ingredients into the dry, stir lightly for only 10 to 20 seconds. The batter should be somewhat lumpy. If a batter is beaten too long, the gluten in the flour will overdevelop and toughen the product.

FILL EMPTY MUFFIN CUPS — If a muffin recipe does not fill all the cups in your muffin tin, put a few tablespoons of water in each of the empty cups. This helps prevent the pan from warping from uneven temperature. The water keeps the rest of the muffins moist.

Rotisserie Cooking

For a pork roast on the rotisserie a good choice is a boneless pork loin roast, a boneless Boston shoulder roast (butt), a rolled leg of pork, a boned and rolled fresh picnic shoulder or two pieces of boneless loin tied together into a handsome loin roast.

Of course spareribs are a tradition. Place them on the spit accordion-style and baste frequently with barbecue sauce.

Lamb for your grill's rotisserie includes the boneless rolled shoulder, boneless rolled loin roast and a rolled leg.

A bologna roast is also an increasingly popular cut for rotisserie cooking.

This summer why not introduce a new outdoor cooked meat treat to your family weekly?

Top toasted side with a slice of mild cheese and a slice of salami. Make 4 cuts about ¼-inch deep in each slice of salami to prevent curling during broiling. In the center place 2 teaspoons of a mixture of ¼ cup salad dressing, 2 tablespoons drained pickle relish and 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion. Broil 2 inches from heat until lightly browned, about 3 minutes.

Food
the good things in life

Spicy Date Pudding Cake is made from date bread mix, one of 11 coffeetime mixes which make tasty treats by themselves and are versatile for numerous creative flavor variations.

To make this sweet 'n spicy treat, pour fruit cocktail into a cake pan; top with brown sugar and cinnamon. Then, simply pour the date bread mix, combined with water, molasses and egg, over the fruit and bake. If desired, canned peach slices may be substituted for fruit cocktail.

Serve this delicious dish at its flavor peak — when it's warm. Pop it into the oven just before your family sits down for a meal. It will be ready to eat by dessert time. For extra richness, serve with light cream.

SPICY DATE PUDDING CAKE

- 2 cans (1 lb. each) fruit cocktail, undrained
- 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ cup water
- ¼ cup dark molasses
- 1 egg
- 1 package date bread mix
- 1 teaspoon allspice

Pour fruit cocktail into an ungreased 13x9-inch pan. Sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon. Set aside.

In large mixing bowl, combine water, molasses and egg. Add dry bread mix and allspice. Stir 40 to 50 strokes. Carefully pour over fruit cocktail. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm, topped with cream if desired. Eight to 10 servings.

Variation: Use 2 cans (1 lb. each) peach slices, undrained in place of fruit cocktail.

It's Forever Springtime In This Room

It's forever springtime in this fun-sun room filled with living clay-potted plants that can be switched indoors or out like the light-weight alumaloy furniture. The pretty printed rug called "Independence" is a brand-new kind that is deceptively durable with its close-packed pile and high-density foam rubber backing. Never mind the mud tracks or spills . . . they wipe or brush right off; drop a glass and it bounces. It's easy on the feet, too. No wonder these marvelous new printed carpets are such a hit all through the house and especially in rough and tumble or working areas.

Wedding Planned

The groomsmen will be Mr. Clark's brother, Robert Clark of Northridge, Calif.; Robert Anderson of Norfolk, brother of the bride-to-be; and William Brier.

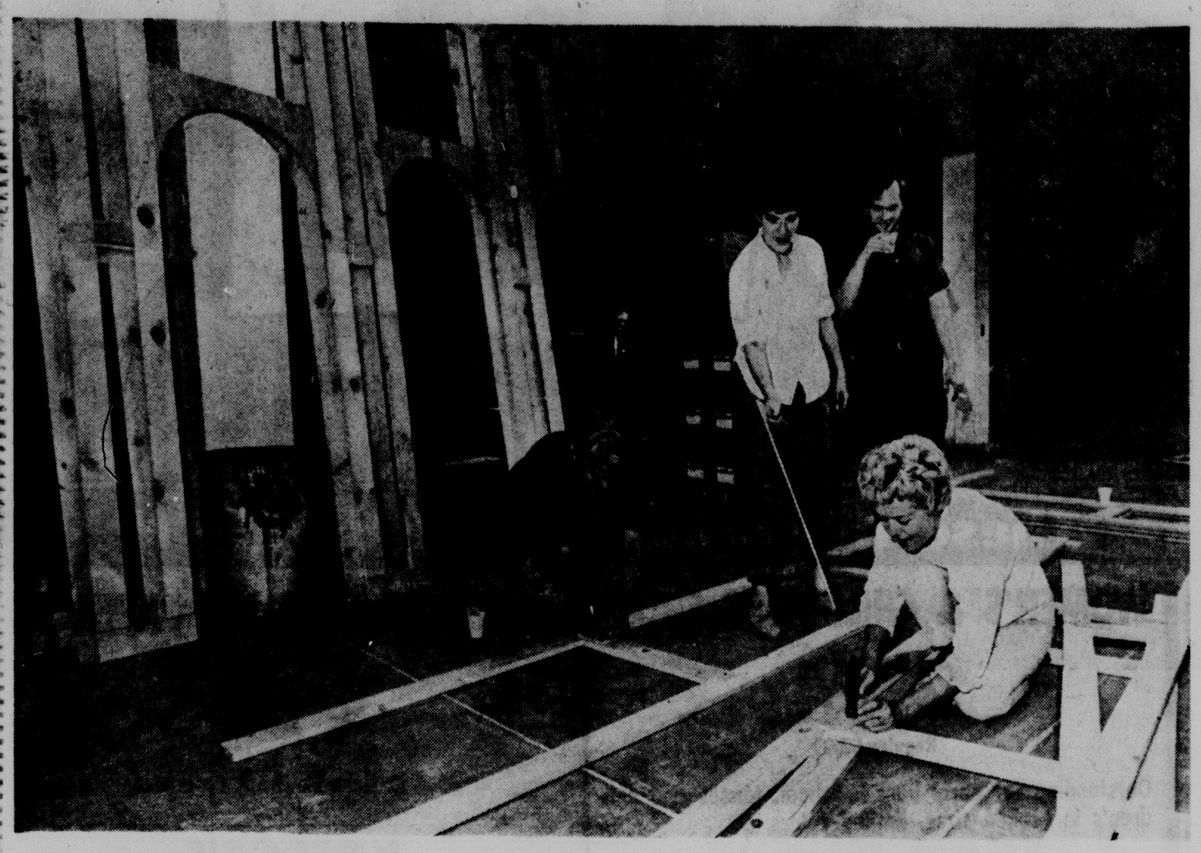
Hitting The Nail On The Head



It is a lady carpenter we see on her knees with hammer in hand. It — or rather, she — is Mrs. Sam Davidson whose efforts and energies, plus those of her group of workers, are devoted to making the Lincoln General Fashion show, which has a mid-September date, a success.

Neither Mrs. Davidson nor her feminine cohorts are modeling what the best-dressed carpenter should wear. They are using their know-how to build sets for the forthcoming show, and if there are, or have been any bruised thumbs certainly they don't show in the picture.

Although the ladies — all members of the Hospital's fashion show committee seem to be doing most of the work, we must give credit where credit is due. In the background is one lonely male. He is Bob Hall, technical director and we hear that so far he has not had any labor troubles.

The carpentry brigade is on the job every day from 1 o'clock to 4 o'clock in the basement of Lincoln General Hospital's new section.

Talk Around Town

Yesterday we spent some time talking about all of the talent that filled the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Webster on Monday night. As a matter of fact we spent so much time introducing the group of young artists — vocalists and instrumentalists — who stopped off overnight on their way from Aspen, Colo., to New York, that we didn't have the extra moments to mention an excellent talent right here in Lincoln. Young Fred Webster, tenor. Mr. Webster also spent the summer in Aspen — in study, workshops and performing. We think it is most interesting that he was so well accepted by instructors and performers even though the young man is only 17 years old, and will be a senior at Southeast High School this year.

Mr. Webster, by the way, had the golden opportunity of working in pantomime under the famous French pantomimist.

* * *

Away from the arts, now — and to homecomers. We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Robert Talbot are back in town after spending several weeks at their summer home at Hackensack, Minn.

* * *

Also back in town are Dr. and Mrs. Paul D. Kern and their children, LeAnn and Doug, who flew to California on Aug. 5. They spent three days at Disneyland, and then drove down to Newport Beach, Laguna and San Clementi where they devoted five days of their time. At the end of their stay in southern California the travelers boarded a plane for San Francisco and its environs. They took time out to drive to Sacramento for an evening with friends — then back to San Francisco and a plane home.

But that isn't all of the news involving the Kern family. On Aug. 23, Dr. and Mrs. Kern celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary but they hadn't planned anything exciting — their children had, however. They, and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Otto had a surprise canape party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto, by way of celebrating the anniversary.

Coming from out of town to attend the 6 o'clock until 9 o'clock affair were Dr. and Mrs. John R. Seberg of Hastings; Dr. and Mrs. James E. Chapin, and Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Tomek, all of Omaha.

Incidentally — Miss Kern will be leaving early in September for Iowa City and the University of Iowa where she will be a student in the department of dental hygiene at the University of Iowa College of Dentistry.

Wedding Attendants Named

Naming the members of her bridal party this morning is Miss Linda Chatfield, whose marriage to Thomas Cunningham will be an event of Saturday, Aug. 31.

For her matron of honor, the bride-elect has chosen her sister, Mrs. Stephen Leeper, and her maid of honor will be Miss Marcia Kuper of Columbus. The bridesmatrons will be Mrs. Peter Lage, sister of Mr. Cunningham, and Mrs. Thomas Tinstman, both of Omaha, and attending her aunt as flower girl will be Miss Kathryn Leeper.

Lighting the chancel candles for the 4 o'clock service, which will be solemnized at Trinity Methodist Church, will be Miss Mimi Rose of Rolling Meadows, Ill., and Mrs. Steven McCann, Omaha.

William B. Cunningham of Omaha, will serve his twin brother as best man, and the groomsman will be Mr. Cunningham's brother, Richard Cunningham, and Joe Valenti, Omaha, and Kenneth Miller, Hartington. Peter Lage and Donald Krebs, Omaha, and Dr. Stephen Leeper will seat the guests, and the ringbearer will be Mark Leeper, nephew of the bride-elect.

Following the wedding rehearsal at the church on Friday evening, the members of the family and bridal party will be entertained at a prenuptial dinner for which Mrs. John J. Cunningham will be hostess in courtesy to her son and Miss Chatfield. The 8 o'clock dinner will be held at the Legionnaire Club.

Sonja Henie's Gem-Studded Friends

BY MARILYN BENDER
(c) New York Times Service

Oslo — Begum Aga Khan sent regrets at the last minute, saying she was ill. Perle Mesta had to attend a Democratic convention in Chicago. A few diplomats who had been invited did not appear because of the Czechoslovakian crisis, which cast somewhat of a pall over the festivities. But nevertheless, the entire Norwegian Royal Family and a contingent of gem-studded friends from Los Angeles, Paris and London turned up for the two-day round of parties marking the opening of the Sonja Henie-Niels Onstad Art Center here.

Niels Onstad, a 58-year-old Norwegian ship owner who does not have a personal yacht, is the skating star's third husband. He has been collecting art since he was 19.

"I've known Sonja since she was this high," said Onstad, a short quiet man, pointing to his knee. When they were married in 1956, he recalled, "Sonja didn't like Dubuffet and Ernst. She said she couldn't live with them. She had a nice collection, a Renoir and a Gainsborough," he added in a kindly tone, but after we were married she started building up a modernistic collection.

Now the Onstads have given 250 of their paintings to Norway. That gift and the fan-shaped stone and glass museum they have built for it, is said to be the largest private donation ever made in this country.

Constructed on a 35-acre site overlooking Oslo's fjord, the museum is the nucleus of an avant-garde culture and recreation center. It has thus far cost about $7 million to build.

Although the center has been acknowledged as a valuable tourist attraction, there has been carping among Norwegians about the idea of erecting a monument to oneself under the guise of philanthropy. American millionaires do it all the time.

Miss Henie, who won three Olympic skating championships for Norway and went on to become a movie star, ice ballerina and producer of extravagant skating shows, has been an American citizen since 1941. Her first two husbands, Daniel R. Topping, the sportsman, and Winthrop Gardiner Jr., a socialite, were American.

Some Norwegians mention that when the Nazis invaded Norway, Miss Henie was accumulating her fortune by making movies and pioneering in ice ballet. The walls of the bar at Grandholtet are paved with autographed pictures of world leaders who admired Sonja Henie. Among them are two of Adolf Hitler and one of Benito Mussolini.

At the opening Friday afternoon, the ice queen out-glittered democratic royalty. She had been costumed in white on white by Dan Werle, a Beverly Hills designer who beamed approval from the sidelines.

Her white wool coat-dress was embellished with white lace and cuffed with white mink. On her head was a halo of white mink. Diamond daisies covered her ear lobes. Other selections from the pure white diamond category of Miss Henie's famous jewel collection were attached to her wrists and fingers. A heart-shaped solitaire blinked from a chain around her neck.

Friday evening the Onstad's entertained friends at home. Miss Henie swept down the white carpeted staircase, a five-foot-two-inch sun-bronzed mermaid in a blue-beaded sheath coordinated with a sapphire clip the size of a hen's egg attached to a diamond bracelet and two sapphire solitaire rings.

Meeting

Nebraska women will be spreading goodwill among country women of the world September 3-14 at Michigan State University in East Lansing, Mich.

Those women representing the Nebraska Council of Home Extension Clubs at the Triennial Conference will be: Voting delegates, Mrs. Charles Fairley, Geneva; Mrs. Louis Fear, Sutherland; Mrs. Everett Spangle, Omaha; Mrs. Joe W. Hull, Grand Island; Mrs. Melvin Beerman, Dakota City; Mrs. Louis Jeppesen, Hubbard; Mrs. LeRoy Cook, Lincoln. Accredited visitors are Mrs. Cullen Bryant, Bennington, and Mrs. R. S. Graves, Omaha. Another Nebraska participant in the conference will be Mrs. Haven Smith, of Chappell, who is currently serving as one of two Deputy Presidents of ACWW.

Bridal Showers

A popular bride-to-be of late summer is Miss Linda Mahoney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Mahoney, whose marriage to Michael A. Shipley of Anderson, Ind., will be an event of Saturday, Aug. 31.

Sunday afternoon, Aug. 18, Miss Mahoney was presented a personal shower by Gamma Phi Beta sorority sisters at a party for which Mrs. Frank Mitchell was hostess at her home. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Mitchell were Mrs. Myron Wall and Miss Vickie Shurtz.

The bride-to-be also was honored recently at a neighborhood party held at the home of Mrs. Ervin Goldenstein. Mrs. Paul Hood was co-hostess for the informal coffee.

Former University of Nebraska coed, Miss Mary Lee Casey, who will become the bride of Lt. Richard L. Watson, USMC, of Omaha, on Saturday, Sept. 7, will be the guest of honor Tuesday morning at a bridal courtesy for which Mrs. John Muehlbeier will be hostess at her home.

The guests have been invited for an informal coffee and will present a linen shower to the bride-elect.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Casey, the bride-to-be was presented a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening, Aug. 15, when Miss Roberta Layton of Long Beach, Calif., and her sister, Mrs. Chris Wilken, entertained at the home of their mother, Mrs. Ervin Layton.

Evening Wedding

Tall arrangements of white gladioli and yellow pompon chrysanthemums appointed the chancel of the American Lutheran Church at Ashland, Saturday evening, Aug. 24, for the wedding of Miss Jean Ellen Converse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lamar F. Converse of Ashland, and Robert O. Whiteaker, son of Otto Whiteaker of Ashland, and the late Mrs. Whiteaker. The Rev. Wesley A. Brodin read the lines of the 7:30 o'clock service, Empire frocks in the coral tone were worn by Miss Mary Wright of Lincoln, the maid of honor, and the bridesmatrons, Mrs. Robert Goff, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. John L. Reid, both of Ashland.

Serving as best man was Tom Stootsberry, and seating the guests were Jerry Spech and Robert Goff, all of Ashland.

Floral appliques of Alencon lace trimmed the bride's gown of white silk organza. Designed with a crescent neckline, the bodice featured elbow-length, bell sleeves patterned with lace, and the lace was repeated at the hem of the slender skirt and in a border on the chapel train. A cluster of illusion petals held to the head her bouffant veil, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Whiteaker will live in Lincoln, at 3333 No. 48th. The bridegroom is a student at the University of Nebraska.

Books

BY CHARLES POORE
(c) New York Times Service

The pompous man handed his wife a printed card he got from one of those coin machines that combine weighing with fortune telling.

She read it aloud: "You are a leader with a magnetic personality and strong character," it said — "intelligent, witty, and attractive to the opposite sex." Then she added brightly: "It's got your weight wrong, too." Now I'm against vivid candor in our wives. They should hew to the Miltonic line: "He for God only, she for God in him." But the story, as John W. Gardner tells it, makes a nice putdown on fatuous illusions of leadership and generally making out. Tales like this one light our way through Gardner's superb new book, "No Easy Victories." Helen Rowan expertly put it together. She chose aphoristic paragraphs from Gardner's best talks and articles. The result is the most readable foray into America's public affairs and private hangups I've seen this year. No one else on the national scene makes so much sense with such disarming grace.

"I believe," he tells us, "that Americans today have no less moral fiber than they did a generation ago. After all, I'm old enough to remember the flapper era, which was not morally fibrous."

His other credentials are impressive. He is a Stanford graduate with a Ph.D., an ex-Marine Captain, an administrator who has held all kinds of command posts. For 10 years he was president of the Carnegie Corporation and the Carnegie Foudation for the advancement of teaching. First President Eisenhower, then President Kennedy, gave him rugged missions to invigorate life and learning.

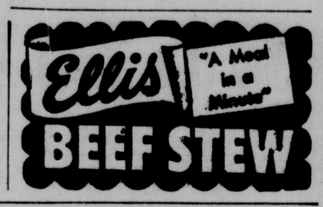
Yesterday he was Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare. Today he is chairman of the Urban Coalition. Tomorrow, don't be surprised if the poll-dazed posse now stalking the presidency calls it a draw and suggests that Gardner be offered the White House to climax this year of surprises.

In a world awash with young fogies and aging rebels, his coolly balanced judgments are a pleasure to hear.

"The traditionalist," he remarks, "believes that foolishness frozen into custom is preferable to foolishness fresh off the vine." But before antitraditionalists can prance he reminds them that sometimes a traditionalist may have the better idea.

Was Hostess

Mrs. Paul Childers was hostess to the Mrs. JayCees board members at her home, Wednesday evening, when plans for the coming year were discussed.



Paris Fashions On Nude Side

BY LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

Paris—There's plenty of nudity in all the Paris collections. No one winces or gasps at a see-through effect any more. They're classic. Today black chiffon is shown over nothing, except for a strip of opaque fabric or a hula skirt of ostrich across strategic areas. Courreges has a couple of topless costumes. Chiffon see-through pants appear here and there.

Ungaro's bride wears organdie pants, strewn with flowers, and a gold hardware bra.

One bride is all in white ostrich plumes. Another at Dior's is hooded with white mink with a floor-length coat. Saint-Laurent climaxes it all with a gold brocade Iroquois bride, with a Madonna lily stuck into he front of her squaw braided hairdo.

Fun was had with Alexandre's Hiawatha hairdos and Saint-Laurent's "Canadian trapper" fringed leather group.

Dazzling costume jewelry often is integrated in the dress.

Backstage Scenes At The Convention

BY CHARLOTTE CURTIS
(c) New York Times Service

Chicago — The Democratic National Convention is not dominated by women and children. It just looked that way during the weekend preliminaries.

At Humphrey headquarters, which is the most elaborate setup this side of a first class drug store, it was Junior this and Mrs. that, and a lady named Thelma Perkins to the rescue.

Mrs. Perkins was the one at the sewing machine. They put the machine in the Conrad Hilton's subterranean ballroom because somebody had failed to hem the sleeves of the Humphrey dresses being sold in the pharmacy boutique. And hemless sleeves, as Mrs. Perkins pointed out gently, are "open armholes without seaming," and that would never do.

Some delegates' wives thought Mrs. Perkins and the sewing machine added a homey touch. But what mattered were Mrs. Perkins' scissors.

She had the only pair in the headquarters, which consists of the boutique, the Hubaret Night Club, a souvenir photograph-button-and-biography booth and such other odds and ends as a place for women to rest their feet, complain that the HHH orchestra seldom stops playing or making, a hairdressing appointment.

Mrs. Perkins' scissors were discovered in time to open the headquarters, all blue, green and hung with tinsel. Douglas S. Humphrey, the Vice President's son who looks like a young Pierre Salinger, used them to snip a green ribbon. Nearly 100 women watched him while another dozen went right on grabbing up campaign scarves, dresses and jewelry in the boutique.

Mrs. Leslie L. Carpenter was there. She is still Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's press secretary and she wasn't buying Humphrey dresses.

"I'm just a lame duck viewer," Mrs. Carpenter said, explaining her presence, "just an observer."

She draped an arm affectionately around a well scrubbed volunteer in an HHH silk dress — a girl who turned out to be her 18-year-old daughter Christy. Christy is for "Hubee Babee" and she has the button to prove it

"Mother's for McCarthy and she's working as a spy," Christy said later.

Mrs. George S. McGovern herself was the chief attraction at McGovern headquarters across the street in the Sheraton Blackstone Hotel. She led her twin sister, her five children and her two sons-in-law into their first major news conference, and promptly addressed herself to the generation gap.

"I think it's a bad habit," she said flatly, "one of the things I'd like to do is bring about a healing of the division."

Mrs. McGovern also came out for the creativity and idealism of youth ("the most idealistic in the long run often is the most realistic"), "responsible civil disobedience," reading ("we should improve our libraries"), hippies ("I think we can learn from them, but some have gone to extremes and the world could not go on if we were all hippies"), and the right to earn a living in rural areas.

"I love the land," she said simply. "It's part of my heritage. We must find a way for people to stay on the land."

At McCarthy headquarters, where the youngest workers paint posters, run errands, hand out buttons and swear they'll change the world when they're old enough to vote, the gathering place is Abigail's.

It is at the Conrad Hilton in a mezzanine lobby that has been transformed into a boutique, an art gallery including toddlers' renditions of their candidate, and a service agency. Lots of women are in charge.

One of them ticked off aspirin, guided tours ("nobody's asked for the stockyards") and baby sitting as part of their service to delegates' wives.

Besides Abigail's, the McCarthy women's chief contribution is the use of their own homes. Arriving delegates were barely off their planes before they were swept up, loaded into air-conditioned cars and shuttled off to skyscraper apartments of suburban homes for private parties.

Mrs. Arthur C. Nielsen Jr., wife of the TV Ratings executive, could name nearly 50 such parties not counting her own.

Mrs. Nielsen had members of her book club bring their favorite dishes to her Winnetka house, put a son to chauffering and bartending, and hoped she could win delegates over the deviled eggs with shrimp sauce. If that didn't work, there was the chicken casserole. The seafood casserole, the fruit salad or the cake.

NU Coed, Bride

The altar of the First United Methodist Church in Neligh, was decorated with old-fashioned nosegays of pastel blossoms on Saturday evening, Aug. 24, for the wedding of Miss Judy Ann McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon McCoy of Neligh, and Wayne Michael Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Hall of Fairbury. The 7:30 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Dillon Hess.

Frocked in blue silk moire and carrying bouquets of white and blue blossoms were Miss Janet McCoy, as her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Jean McCoy, also a sister of the bride, and Miss Jody Meredith of York.

Kent Hall of Fairbury, served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen were Terry McCoy, brother of the bride, Bill Metz, Gary Kuck, Tim Irons, Lee Boyden, Gary Rohlfsen and Scott Rudat, all of Lincoln.

The bride chose traditional white satin for her wedding gown, which was designed in the skimmer silhouette. A deep yoke of Venise lace, touched with pale blue ribbon, continued into long, bell sleeves, and the ribbon and lace were repeated at the hem of the court train. A cap of organza and silk petals held her illusion veil, and she wore a cluster of family heirloom wedding rings on a small gold chain.

Both students at the University of Nebraska, Mr. and Mrs. Hall will reside at 1616 L. The bride is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and Mr. Hall's fraternity is Sigma Phi Epsilon.

MISS ROSEMARY HINKLE

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hinkle of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rosemary, to Daniel J. Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Sharp of Bridgeport.

The wedding is planned for autumn.

Miss Hinkle is a former student at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Sharp also has attended the University of Nebraska.

GS Board

The members of the board of the Homestead Girl Scout Council will meet at 1 o'clock, next Tuesday afternoon, at the Lincoln Center.

Now that the last week of summer vacation is drawing to a close for Lincoln students, activities of the newsworthy variety seem to be slowing down for the time being. Mothers are involved in the last-minute scurry to get everything ready for school's start, while the children are trying to cram in enough playtime to last them until next summer.

So, while there is a bit of a lull in current suburban news, we'll take the opportunity to catch up on some of the pink-and-blue goings-on during the last part of the summer.

It was exactly a month ago today that the family at 1732 Rancho Road in South Hills had their ranks increased by one. Making her appearance at Bryan Memorial Hospital at that time was Miss Sharilyn Gay Kerns, the first daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kerns.

Sharilyn went home to join three brothers — Steven, 12; Scott, 9; and Stuart, 6. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. Papke of Pickerel, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kerns of Firth.

Just a few days before Miss Kern's arrival at Bryan Memorial, a young man of interest to Prairie Valley residents appeared on the scene there.

We are speaking of Robert James VanEtten, the first child of Mr. and Mrs. James VanEtten of 4507 East Eden Drive. Born on July 25, Robert is the grandson of three East Peoria, Ill., residents — Mrs. Irma Mooberry and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil VanEtten.

So much for the diaper-set diary this morning, and on to Country Club Plaza, which yesterday afternoon was the scene of a "farewell" coffee. It was a gayer goodbye than most, however, as the honored guest, Mrs. Kendall Schwab, is not going to be far from her friends.

The Schwab family is moving from 2140 Stockwell to 6721 Everett this weekend, and the neighbors who gathered Wednesday to "send off" Mrs. Schwab were glad it was not to be a longer move. Hostess for the afternoon coffee was Mrs. Vern Scofield.

Summer (as defined by school standards) is just about gone, and with it summer vacations and visitors, but there are a few suburbanites who waited until the last minute — like Maj. (Ret.) and Mrs. Kermit Hammar, Philipp, and Ann, who have just returned from a Texas trip which took them to several locations in the state.

First stop for the Eastridge travelers was Wichita Falls, where they visited with their son, David, who has just completed basic training at Lackland AFB and is now stationed at Sheppard AFB.

Then it was on to Kerrville and a stay with Maj. Hammar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hammar. Kerrville is only 60 miles from San Antonio, which was the next visit for the Hammars. The attraction there was two-fold — the Hammars were once stationed in San Antonio, and that city is currently the site of the Hemisfair. On the way back to Nebraska, the family once more stopped at Wichita Falls for a weekend visit with David.

Ceremony Of Late Summer

The marriage of Miss Joette Hochstein of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Hochstein, Crofton, to Dale Hutchings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hutchings of Kansas City, Mo., was solemnized Saturday afternoon, Aug. 10, at St. Boniface Church in Menominee. The lines of the service were read by the Rev. Otto Zillig.

Mrs. Henry Sudbeck of Omaha, attended her sister as matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Diana Hutchings, Kansas City, sister of the birdegroom, and Miss Janice Kohles, Lincoln. Their Empire frocks were fashioned of orchid-toned chiffon, and they carried nosegays of white carnations.

Serving as best man was James Richardson, Denver, and the ushers were Leland Hochstein, Crofton, brother of the bride; Dean Van Ryswik, Cape Girardeau, Mo.; Henry Sudbeck, Omaha; and Carl Richardson, Elgin.

The bride appeared in a gown of white silk organza and re-embroidered Alencon lace, designed in the directoire mode and complemented by a cotillion-length court train. A cap of lace petals jeweled with pearls and crystal beading held her illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of white roses centered with a single orchid.

Mr. Hutchings and his bride, who has been careering in Lincoln, will make their home in Watertown, S.D.

Good Questions And Answers

Q. Many women are still confused concerning the difference between perfume, cologne and toilet water, and I am one of them — Help!

A. Perfume is much others. It is made with oils, alcohol and preservatives. The oils may come from flowers, fruits or spices. Much larger amounts of alcohol are used in toilet water and it is weaker in fragrance and does not last as long as perfume. Cologne is very much like toilet water. In fact, they are about the same, the difference being that toilet water usually has a flower or fruit basis.

Toilet water and cologne are used more generously than perfume. Because of their high alcohol content and their light fragrance they are cooling and refreshing. Perfumes, of course, must be used with a much lighter touch since their scent is so much stronger.

Q. I have been using a regular liquid makeup base, but I hear so much about matte finish bases. Just what is the difference?

A. Matte finish cosmetics contain more powder. They can take the place of a liquid base and powder. They usually have more emolients than the usual base.

Q. My scalp itches. Does this mean that I will get bald? I have several friends whose hair is getting so thin. They are not baldheaded, but their hair is falling out more than it should. What can I do to avoid having the same experience?

A. There are some measures which will help besides good health habits. Of course a good diet and general good health will help. However there are no special foods which promote hair growth.

Cleanliness of the scalp is essential. Shampoo your hair at regular intervals. If it is dry, once every ten or twelve days may be enough. If it is very oily you may want to shampoo it every two or three days.

Also, do not brush your hair vigorously or massage your scalp too forcefully. Avoid hair styles which pull at the roots of the hair like the "ponytail" does. Do not keep your hair in rollers for long periods of time. Do not sleep with rollers on.

Q. Is there any makeup for under the arms? I have to shave every day because of heavy hair growth and my problem is that the skin is darker in my armpits than on the rest of my arms. It is not becoming and I was wondering if there is anything I can do to hide this discoloration.

A. I do not know of such a product. However I see no reason why you cannot use one of the masking cosmetics. There are dozens on the market, many of them waterproof.

Q. Is it true that hair falls out more in the fall of the year?

A. Some women have this experience.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
1 NT	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	Pass	3 ♣

Opening lead — five of spades.

This deal occurred during the match between Germany and the United States. It illustrates the difficulty sometimes encountered in standard bidding systems in finding a 4-4 heart fit when it exists.

When Waldeck and Pressburger, of Germany, held the North-South cards, the bidding went as shown. It was difficult for North to bid his four-card heart suit headed by the 10-9-8 when he had two other suits headed by the A-K, and it was similarly difficult for South to bid two hearts over two diamonds and suppress his support (Q-8-5) for the suit his partner had named first.

So the German pair missed a sound four heart contract without ever having bid the suit, and furthermore suffered a small additional loss when Roth, playing with Root, barged in with three clubs after the bidding had died and went down one for minus 50.

At the other table, the American North-South pair — Robinson and Jordan — had no trouble finding their heart fit. Applying one of their favorite bidding gadgets — the negative double — they arrived at four hearts on this sequence:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	2 ♣
Dble	3 ♣	4 ♣	Pass
4 ♥

Jordan's double of two clubs was not for business; on the contrary, it announced four-card length in either spades or hearts, possibly both, and 7 to 10 high-card points.

The negative double suited Robinson to a T, since he had good support for either major. When West intervened with three clubs over the double, Robinson cuebid clubs to force South to make the major suit choice.

Jordan thereupon bid four hearts, which he easily made, and the result was that the United States gained 9 international match points to help them inflict a 17-3 victory point defeat on the German team. The negative double, whatever its over-all merits or demerits, certainly was helpful on this deal.

ABBY: let them have their illusions

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been divorced for 2 years. We have two very mature and sophisticated children, a boy, 10, and a girl, 12, who live in New York with their mother.

I have a very nice beach home in southern California, and I have a ladyfriend living with me. My ex-wife is aware of this but my children are not.

In our settlement, my wife agreed to let me have the children for 2 weeks in the summer. Now she refuses to send them to me because she doesn't want them to visit a father who is living "in sin" with another woman.

I say, "Children should be taught the realities of life, and I don't intend to put up any phony puritanical front." My ladyfriend is not a cheap floozie. She's a fine European woman with sufficient charm and intelligence to hold a man without insisting on marriage, which is more than can be said of most American women.

How can I make my ex-wife see it my way? I miss my children.

DEPRIVED

DEAR DEPRIVED: You probably can't, which is just as well. I agree with your ex-wife. Your "mature and sophisticated" children will learn the realities of life soon enough, so allow them their illusions a while longer. And if you really "miss" your children, tell your "fine European ladyfriend" to get lost for 2 weeks.

DEAR ABBY: This letter is to the 13-year-old "Nowhere Girl," whose mother wouldn't let her wear make-up, the kind of clothes she wanted, or her hair the way she wanted to:

Kid, if I were you, I'd get down on my hands and knees and thank God for such a mother. If you think it's fun to do what you please, you've got another thought coming. It isn't what it's cut up to be. At 13, my mother never cared what I did or what I looked like. And where did it get me? At 18 I am married, divorced and have two small babies. I am living in a dump and have nothing but a hot, dirty office to look forward to each day.

Be thankful you have a mother with more sense than I had.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 5 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 5, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.

State Fair Sprint Field Passes 50

Chuck Lynch of Springfield, Ill., is one of the most recent entries in a field of Nebraska State Fair sprint car drivers which swelled to more than 50 at midweek.

Lynch, in his third season as an IMCA sprint car driver, drove one of the best races of his career last Sunday when he placed fifth in the Missouri Futurity, the 50-mile classic which concludes the Missouri State Fair at Sedalia.

Lynch will drive the Chevrolet-engined machine which he himself owns.

Fair secretary Henry Brandt reported Wednesday that entries are on hand from 12 states, most from the Midwest. However, he added, several have been received from California and Texas and one car is en route from Birmingham, Ala., with no driver designated.

Owner of the latter machine is Eddie Buckner, who several years ago had as a driver Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., 1968 Indianapolis "500" winner.

The Fair's sprint races are scheduled Saturday, Sunday and Monday afternoons, beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday will find the cars trackside an hour early for qualifying time trials which will stand for all three days of racing.

Six races are scheduled daily, including heat races and a semifinal event to determine starters in the day's feature; and a special match race pitting the fastest qualifiers.

Next Thursday will wind up the Fair's 1968 auto racing offering with the running of the state modified stock car racing championship event. More than 60 cars and drivers from all over Nebraska have entered.

Open Tennis Finally An American Reality At Forest Hills Meet Today

By NEIL AMDUR

New York — After years of frustration, failure and political procrastination, open tennis becomes a reality in the United States today. And what a show the first open promises to be.

There will be $100,000 in prize money, a record advance ticket sale, national television, 150 newsmen from all over the world, and top amateur and professional players eager for a share of the fame and fortune that await the singles champions of the tournament.

For tennis liberals like Edward A. Turville of St. Petersburg, Fla., and E. C. (Ned) Potter, the 83-year-old statesman of the sport, the 11-day event at the West Side Tennis Club in Forest Hills is vindication of an ideological struggle that began two decades ago.

Turville, a former president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, fought for open tournaments but was embarrassingly rebuffed in 1963 by more conservative colleagues. Potter was talking and writing about open tennis when only a few afficionados understood its ramifications.

The golden age began officially last Mar. 30 when, in a historic reversal of policy, the International Lawn Tennis Federation endorsed open tennis and opened the way for the exciting events that followed: tournaments in Europe, the first Wimbledon and French opens and renewed spectator interest. The administrative quagmire caused by player classifications, distribution of tournaments and international control has been overshadowed by the sight of amateurs upsetting professionals.

The honor of playing the initial stadium match in the U.S. Open National Tennis Tournament will go to Mrs. Billie Jean King, the world's top-ranking women's player and the sport's most energetic, refreshing thinker. Chasing a top singles prize of $6,000, Mrs. King, Wimbledon singles titlist, will meet Helen Amos.

With its $14,000 jackpot, the men's singles division has several eyecatching openers.

Barry McKay, a 33-year-old professional and America's No. 1 amateur in 1960, plays Jim Osborne, a 23-year-old amateur from Honolulu.

Two other interesting amateur vs. pro confrontations will pair Andres Gimeno and Ray Moore and Nikki Pilic and George (Butch) Seewagen.

Gimeno, a Spanish professional and one of the top 10 players in the world, lost to Moore, the shaggy-haired, self-professed South African hippie, in the Wimbledon open.

Seewagen, a New Yorker who is one of the most popular players on the amateur tour, has had his best summer. Pilic has won $21,400 in his fist year as a pro.

DENNY WINS NO. 26 OVER CAL

Tigers Regain Ground As Orioles Lose, 3-2

. . . BIRDS BACK FIVE AGAIN

By Associated Press

Denny McLain become the first American League pitcher to win 26 games since 1946 as he yielded six hits and struck out 11 Wednesday night in first-place Detroit's 6-1 victory over California.

Bill Freehan hit a two-run homer and Jim Northrup belted a three-run shot in helping McLain boost his record to 26-5 and the Tigers increase their lead to five games over runner-up Baltimore, which lost 3-2 to Washington.

Bob Gibson fired a four hitter and struck out 14 as he posted his 19th victory in National League-leading St. Louis' 8-0 trouncing of Pittsburgh. Gibson, who has lost six, also singled in two runs and Orlando Cepeda drove in four, three with a homer for St. Louis.

Bernie Allen tied Baltimore for Washington at 1-1 with an RBI single in the fourth inning and Frank Howard won it for the Senators with a two-run homer, his 37th in the fifth.

It was Washington's first victory over Baltimore in 13 games.

Mike Hershberger and Dave Duncan homered in the eighth inning to break a 3-3 tie and send Boston to a 5-3 victory over Boston. Carl Yastrzemski hit a two-run homer for Boston.

Cleveland edged Minnesota 3-2 as Jose Cardenal drove in two runs, including the tie-breaker. Bob Allison homered for Minnesota.

Rookie Jerry Nyman posted a shutout in his first major-league start, pitching a four-hitter as the Chicago White Sox topped the New York Yankees 3-0.

Tommy Davis, Tom McCraw and Walt Williams each singled home a run in the Chicago third.

San Francisco nipped Houston 4-3 when John Buzhardt walked Bobby Bonds with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning. Willie McCovey hit his 31st homer for San Francisco.

Cincinnati swept the New York Mets 8-3 and 5-2.

Tommy Helms and Don Pavletich sparked Cincinnati's 15-hit attack in the first game with three hits apiece. Ed Charles and Cleon Jones homered for the Mets.

Gary Nolan, who beat the Mets for the seventh straight time, broke a 1-1 tie with a two-run double in the fifth inning to start the Reds to victory in the nightcap.

Deron Johnson sparked Atlanta to 9-2 and 2-1 victories over Philadelphia. Johnson drove in two runs with a homer and single in the first game and singled home the winning run in the eighth inning of the nightcap. Hank Aaron tied the second game for Atlanta with his 25th homer in the sixth.

The Chicago Cubs erupted for six runs in the first inning and went on to a 7-4 victory over Los Angeles in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader on the West Coast. Don Kessinger and Ernie Banks each drove in two runs for Chicago, and Bob Bailey and Ted Savage homered for Los Angeles.

ANOTHER WORLD RECORD . . . for amazing Debbie in 800-meter freestyle.

Debbie Cracks 3rd Record

. . . BREAKS 800-FREESTYLE STANDARD TWICE IN ONE DAY

Los Angeles (AP) — Sixteen-year-old Debbie Meyer utilized strength and stamina to smash her third world record at the U.S. Women's Olympic swimming trials Wednesday and, for good measure, she did it twice.

Miss Meyer, from Sacramento, Calif., swam the 800-meter freestyle in 9 minutes, 16.4 seconds in the morning preliminaries and came back in the afternoon to win and lower her mark to 9:10.4.

The metric half-mile at the Los Angeles Swim Stadium completeed five days of action in which American girls bettered seven world records.

Blonde Debbie's three standards were in the 200 freestyle at 2:06.7, the 400 at 4:24.6 and the final 800 as she proved herself queen of this meet.

She already owned the official 800 record with 9:22.9, more than 12 seconds slower than her phenomenal time Wednesday, and on Aug. 4 lowered it at her home Arden Hills pool to 9:17.8.

The youngster appeared fresh after her second half-mile race of the day and said, "I'm looking forward to Olympics. I'm going to do the best I can."

She said she heard the announcer give her time as 2:12.9 and commented, "I knew I was going to do something. I just felt great."

She predicted it could be possible for some girl to swim under nine minutes. "If boys can do it, girls can do it," said Debbie.

Finishing second but never ahead of Debbie was Patty Caretto, 17, of Long Beach, at 9:18.52. Taking third place on the Olympic team was Pam Kruse, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in 9:20.75.

The three top finishers in each of the 12 events in the Olympic trials qualify for the games in Mexico City in October.

The 800-meter freestyle is one of six events added to the Olympic program this year for the first time. Others are the 200-meter freestyle, another of the blue-eyed Miss Myers record events, the 100-meter breast stroke, the 200-meter individual medley; the 200-meter butterfly, the 200-meter backstroke.

Miss Meyer's coach, Sherman Chavoor, who is also the women's Olympic coach, was asked if the girl who had her 16th birthday just two weeks ago may have reached her peak.

"She hasn't started to scratch the surface yet as far as swimming," he said.

Debbie, who stands 5-feet-7 and weighs a trim 118, clocked the following splits on this 90-degree day: 100-1:03.8; 200-2:12.9; 300-3:22.1; 400-4:31.2; 500 - 5:41.0; 600 - 6:51.3; 700-8:02.2 and 800-9:10.4.

Debbie missed out only in the competition of the 100-meter freestyle Tuesday and said, "I kind of blew it when I didn't go out fast enough."

Miss Caretto, who has been swimming longer distance races for a half dozen years, had placed only fifth among the eight qualifiers in the morning race.

She took out after Miss Meyer and, although never threatening the leader, her showing eclipsed those of the other swimmers.

800-meter freestyle—1, Debbie Meyer, Sacramento, Calif., 9:10.4 (betters world record 9:22.9 by Miss Meyer 1968, and her pending world record 9:17.8, 1969); 2 Patty Caretto, Long Beach, Calif., 9:18.52; 3, Pam Kruse, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 9:20.75; 4, Victoria King, Sacramento, Calif., 9:21.63. 5, Claudia Kolb, Santa Clara, Calif., 9:24.57. 6, Eadie Wetzel, Wilmette, Ill., 9:26.06.

Devaney Shuffles Receivers Because Of Frank's Bullets

. . . HUSKERS WILL DON PADS TODAY

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska quarterbacks Frank Patrick and Ernie Sigler changed places in Wednesday's workouts, but the switch had nothing to do with demotions or promotions.

"Frank throws a harder ball than does Ernie," head coach Bob Devaney said in beginning an explanation of the switch, "And we wanted to give some of the receivers, who'll be asked to catch it this fall, a chance to work on it."

When the Huskers work

FRANK PATRICK

strictly by units, fellows like Guy Ingles, Mick Ziegler and Jim McFarland don't get a chance to work with Patrick. However, when individual substitutions are made in a game, they then are asked to catch Patrick passes.

"Because Sigler throws a softer pass, guys will make sensational catches on some of his passes, but have trouble with those Patrick throws," Devaney offered.

The NU coach also expressed pleasure in the work of Sigler, who has taken up where he left off last spring as a strong backup man for Patrick.

"Ernie is doing a fine job for us this fall," Devaney said. "He's throwing the ball well and doing a good all-around job."

The Huskers will be able to don pads for the first time today after spending the first three days working in sweat clothes under the new NCAA regulation.

"We'll work in pads for both sessions for a while now," Devaney said. "We've had three days of conditioning so the players should be able to go twice a day in pads."

He said there would be some contact drills in group work this morning.

"We want to test under pressure some of the things we've been working on," he explained. "It's a little hard to tell how well you're doing things when there's no pressure and when you're just running patterns with no chance for contact."

Big Meeting Involves Arnie

Clifton, N.J. (AP) — There was limited action, an uneasy calm and considerable speculation over a meeting a couple of hundred miles away Wednesday as the $150,000 Thunderbird golf classic prepared to get underway.

Only about half the field of 150 checked in for the tourney that runs Friday through Monday over the 7,035 yard, par 72 Upper Montclair Country Club course.

Among the missing was Arnold Palmer, who scheduled a meeting Thursday in Washington, D.C., with Max Elbin, president of the Professional Golfers' Association and pro at the famed Burning Tree Golf club.

Palmer's name has been conspicously absent from the approximately 200 touring pros who have pulled away from the PGA — which also represents the club pros — to form their own organization, The American Professional Golfers.

Palmer, one of the greatest names in the game and the defending champion here, met with Elbin at Arnie's home in Latrobe, Pa., over the weekend. He did not play in last week's Philadelphia Classic and has not commented on the meeting with Elbin.

"I don't know what this new meeting is all about," said Joe Black, the PGA's recently appointed tournament director.

There has been considerable speculation that Palmer may be used as a peace-maker between the PGA and the APG.

Black also said that new entry forms prepared by the PGA would not be a factor in this tournament.

Patriots Recall, Then Trade Bob Cappadonna

Boston (AP) — The Boston Patriots recalled backs Billy Johnson and Bob Cappadonna Wednesday and then traded Cappadonna to the Buffalo Bills for an undisclosed draft choice.

The American Football League team had placed both players on waivers Monday and had until Wednesday to recall them.

Medals Will Be Credit To Tahoe

. . . TOP TRAINING SITE

South Lake Tahoe, Calif. (AP) — U.S. track and field honors at the Olympic games in Mexico City in October will reflect like gold medals on this little Sierra Nevada resort city at the California-Nevada border.

South Lake Tahoe, incorporated less than three years ago, has provided the U.S. Olympic Committee a high altitude training center at nearby Echo Summit. It is 28 feet feet higher than the 7,349-foot level at which the XIX Olympiad will be held.

The cost to the city, permanent population 14,000, has been $262,000. Of that, $180,000 went for construction of an all-weather track. Coach Howard Brubaker of Santa Ana College calls it "probably one of the fastest in the world."

The 200-plus star athletes encamped here say the 400-meter track surface, a combination of plastic and rubber, seems almost to push them around the course.

Some 10 candidates for each Olympic event have volunteered for medical testing in advance of final trials to determine the three for each category who will represent the United States at the Games.

It has enabled them to work out, compete and learn the tricks of maximum effort where the partial pressure of oxygen is 25 per cent less than at sea level.

"Everybody wins here," Brubaker comments. "The camp has given the fellows an opportunity to continue and sharpen their training. It's almost like an extra year for some."

Doctors and trainers keep daily charts on every performer. Researchers are continuning intensive studies that began four years ago on altitude acclimatization and the mechanisms involved in conditioning.

Research on blood gases, chemistry and volume, breathing, heart action and other physiological factors promise findings reaching far beyond the sports field.

"In addition, the ailments of 200 athletes brought together here run the gamut from gout to upper respiratory infections," says Dr. William P. Plummer of Wood Memorial Physical Medicine at Pomina. "It's like general practice."

Most of the athletes adjust readily to the lower humidity by increasing intake of salt and juices. Adjustment to the oxygen shortage takes longer — four to six weeks, Plummer says.

Bill Bowerman, Oregon track coach and coordinator-director of the Olympic training camp, has his charges going to lower altitude periodically to participate in meets. The practice reduces adjustment times at both levels, experts believe.

The psychological aspect — how the Olympic candidate feels about competing at this altitude — may well be more significant than the oxygen factor, say many coaches, trainers and medical men.

"Track men are notorious for 'psyching out' with the least thing looming as a barrier against their performance," says Dr. H. Kay Dooley, Wood Memorial director.

But that's a high hurdle that almost all the athletes here seem to have cleared, Dr. Dooley believes.

The pervading air at the Echo Summit camp is one of confidence, as in "who needs all that oxygen anyway?"

Chargers Trade QB To Bills For Draftee

Escondido, Calif. (AP) — Quarterback Kay Stephenson of the San Diego Chargers has been traded to the Buffalo Bills for an undisclosed draft choice, the Chargers announced Wednesday.

Stephenson, 23, a second-year American football leaguer from Florida, was acquired by the Bills to fill a void created by injuries to Jack Kemp and Tom Flores.

Attitudes On Boycott Are Varied

By Associated Press

Japan will not withdraw from the Mexico Olympic Games despite an aggravated international situation resulting from the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia, Japanese Olympic officials decided Wednesday.

A spokesman for the Japan Olympic Committee said the committee also decided to call upon all nations not to boycott the world athletic meet.

The Belgian Olympic Committee decided Wednesday night also not to boycott the Olympics, although sympathizing with the Czech resistance.

But in the United States Rep. Jack McDonald, R-Mich., said the International Olympic Committee "should seriously consider expulsion of Russia because of its invasion of Czechoslovakia" in a statement.

Philippine Withdrawal Punch Stuns World Boxing Group

. . . ORIENTALS VOICE DISCONTENT

Pittsburgh (AP) — The World Boxing Association was staggered Wednesday by a jab from the Orient — a punch members saw coming but somehow managed to duck all week.

Protesting a lack of foreign influence in the WBA, Justiniano N. Montaro Jr. of the Philippines withdrew his country from the association and predicted Japan, the Republic of Korea and Thailand "are sure to follow suit."

Montaro, president of the Oriental Boxing Federation who helped form the WBA in 1962, had been threatening to bolt since the opening session of the group's 49th annual convention in Pittsburgh.

Claiming foreigners should have more voice and control in the organization, Montaro sharply criticized the WBA election procedure.

"It's hard to understand," he said, "that we Filipinos have only one vote in the saying at this convention, the same as some states, like Tennessee, which hasn't had a fight in a long time. Why, we have more boxers in the Philippines than the United States has."

The convention ended with Montaro's withdrawal although two attempts were made to change his mind. The Filipino was nominated as WBA president and association officials promised a hearing on foreign representation.

Montaro declined the nomination, saying, "Under the current election rules a foreigner does not have a Chinaman's chance for election.'' Montaro then nominated Chuck Davey, the welterweight.

However, Davey was beaten by Emile Bruneau, chairman of the Louisiana State Athletic Commission. The vote was 20 to 12.

Although Montaro's predicted mass walkout didn't occur at once, he remained confident. And WBA officials, after expressing regrets to the Philippino, quickly attempted to head off further defections.

The South Americans, who had sided with Montaro throughout the convention, decided to stay in the association.

"You have to stay in the ring to win the fight," said Edgaro Lopez, a representative of Panama.

In another action, the WBA stripped Paul Fuji of his world welterweight championship on grounds he failed to defend the title against the No. 1 contender.

Fuji, who last defended his title in November, 1967, signed to fight No. 3 rated Pedro Adigue of the Philippines despite the WBA's request that he meet Nicoline Loche of Argentine, the No. 1 contender.

Glotzbach, Cale To Share Front

. . . SOUTHERN 500

Darlington, S.C. (AP) — Charlie Glotzbach and Cale Yarborough, posting identical speeds, finished in a dead-heat Wednesday to win the front-row positions for the Labor Day Southern 500-mile stock car race.

Glotzbach, in a Dodge Charger, and Yarborough, in a Mercury, turned four laps of the mile and three-eighths Darlington International Raceway at a speed of 144.830 miles per hour.

These two and the next four qualifiers eclipsed the Labor Day time trial mark of 143.436 set last year by Plymouth's Richard Petty, who was among the day's record smashers. He earned sixth spot.

Glotzbach, 28-year-old Georgetown, Ind., driver who is in only his second year on the South's big-money professional circuit, had the day's fastest single lap, a sizzling 145.220 m.p.h. That also beat Petty's old fast lap of 144.399.

Yarborough, the year's biggest money winner with more than $100,000 in the bank, turned one lap at 145.033 m.p.h., but was more consistent on all four of his circuits of the battered old raceway.

Darel Dieringer, in a Plymouth, and Lee Roy Yarbrough, in a Ford, won the second row berths with speeds of 144.443 and 144.054 m.p.h., respectively.

Ford's Donnie Allison and Petty nabbed the third row spots, Allison with 143.919 and Petty with 143.733.

In all, 15 drivers made the 44-car field as about 3,000 sat in 74-degree temperatures for the first day of preparation for the $102,000 event — considered to be the premier on NASCAR's late summer schedule.

Monday's winner picks up a check for about $25,000 and prestige enough to pass on to his grandhcildren.

Glotzbach, whose only other front-row qualifying effort was in the Firecracker 400 at Daytona Beach, Fla., July 4, gets his choice of inside or outside starting spots in the Labor Day grind.

Others making the lineup and their four-lap speeds were Buddy Baker, Dodge Charger, 143.208; Paul Goldsmith, Dodge, 143.011; Tiny Lund, Mercury, 142.553; Bobby Isaac, Dodge Charger, 142.252; Bud Moore, Ford, 141.099; James Hylton, Plymouth, 140.091; Curtis Turner, Plymouth, 139.242; H. B. Bailey, Pontiac, 133.903; and Elmo Langley, Ford, 133.563.

For Glotzbach, it was what he called his best effort ever on a big track, his Daytona pole victory notwithstanding. "You work for everything you get here," he said of the one-groove 19-year-old Darlington Oval. "It is by far the hardest course to drive, and before today I would have settled for almost anywhere down the line."

Bonallack, Two Other Linksmen Tied In Amateur

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — British amateur king Michael Bonallack and two other golfers carded one-over-par 71s Wednesday and tied for the first-round lead in the 68th U.S. Amateur Championship.

The 33-year-old Bonallack shared opening-day honors with a pair of Florida golfers — Allen Miller III of Pensacola and Jack Veghte of Clearwater.

Nebraska has two entries, James Shade of Norfolk, who shot a 40-36—76, and Bob Astleford of Omaha, who came in with a 42-41—83.

W. B. Herman Jr. of Greenville, Del., was disqualified for playing a ball other than his own from within a water hazard on the second hole.

Orioles Get Big Chance

. . . VITAL 3-GAME SERIES AT DETROIT THIS WEEKEND

Detroit (AP) — The Detroit Tigers understandably looked over the shoulder of their Wednesday night opponents, California, and saw ahead what could be their nemesis, the Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles come here for a three-game series starting Friday and it is bound to be a critical one. The 10 game lead the Tigers held over Baltimore at the All-Star Game July 9 now has dwindled to a scant four. Cleveland was second then, 9 behind, but has since dropped to fourth.

Dennis McLain, sore shoulder and all, has been tabbed to pitch Sunday's game with the Orioles.

No one has pushed the panic button yet, but if Baltimore could sweep the series with Detroit the American League pennant race would take on a completely new character. Conversely, a sweep by Detroit would put the Tigers firmly in the driver's seat.

Detroit was rolling along in good shape until the Yankees beat the Tigers four in a row last weekend. Prior to that Detroit had won 13 of its last 15 games. Now the Tigers have dropped five of their last six, all by one run.

The Orioles are hot. They have won 17 of their last 24 and gained 3 games on the Tigers in a week.

"We have no complaints," said manager Mayor Smith of the Tigers after losing to Chicago 2-1 Tuesday night.

"The Orioles are in the race and it's coming down to the end," exulted rookie Merv Rettenmund, whose pinch homer started Baltimore on a 5-3, 7-2 sweep of a doubleheader over Oakland.

"I don't know who's going to win the pennant, but I sure wish we were in Detroit's position," said manager Al Lopez of Chicago.

It is significant that a key Detroit performer, second baseman Dick McAuliffe, has been sitting on the bench during the Tigers' bad slump. He was suspended for five days following a fight with Chicago's Tommy John. Now he is back in action.

Detroit, hoping for its first American League pennant since 1945, is fired with baseball enthusiasm. The three games with Baltimore are expected to draw 140,000.

Manager Smith will send Earl Wilson and John Hiller to the mound in addition to McLain. The Orioles have Dave McNally, Jim Hardin and Tom Phoebus ready.

Fake Husker Tickets Sold

A man posing as a representative of the Athletic Department at the University of Nebraska has been reported selling fake tickets in both Lincoln and Lexington to Nebraska football games, it was reported here Wednesday.

The man, whose identity was not known, also was reported selling license plate attachments saying "Go Big Red." He reportedly said proceeds from the sales were to go to the university's athletic fund.

Athletic director Bob Devaney said the university is not engaged in any fund raising activity of this type and that no tickets are being sold in that manner.

Jr. Welter King Loses Ring Title

Pittsburgh (AP) — The World Boxing Association stripped Paul Fuji of his world junior welterweight championship Wednesday on grounds he has failed to defend the title against the No. 1 contender.

Fuji, an American citizen from Hawaii who has been living in Japan, last defended his title in November, 1967.

The boxing association wanted him to meet the No. 1 contender, Nicoline Loche of Argentina, but Fuji signed instead to fight the No. 3 rated Pedro Adigue of the Philippines.

Fuji had asked the association for a three-month delay in his bout with Adigue, saying he had been injured in an auto accident.

The association did not immediately announce how it will go about selecting a new junior welter king, but there were indications that an elimination series will be held among the top four contenders.

Don't miss it. News of friends on vacation, marriages, engagements, parties, P.T.A. notes and club meetings makes good reading in the family section of "Sunday Journal and Star."

Oilers' Defense Key To Hopes Of Defending AFL East Kings

Houston (AP) — No one in football has come up with a statement comparable to baseball's, "Pitching is 75 per cent of the game."

With the 1967 Houston Oilers, though, defense was quite possibly 75 per cent of the game. And as glittering as it was, Wally Lemm thinks the Oilers' defense will be even better this season.

"Our players have a year's more experience," said the coach of the defending champions of the American Football League's Eastern Division. "They can't help but react better."

The Oiler defense reacted so well last season that they gave up only 199 points, the first time an AFL team ever had limited its opponents to less than 200. Considering the offense scored only 258 points, it was most vital to the Houston cause that the defense was so stingly.

Two of the primary pivots on which the defense turned were linebacker George Webster and cornerback Miller Farr.

Webster came to the Oilers as an all-America from Michigan State and promptly dazzled the entire league, finishing the season as Rookie of the Year and the only rookie member of the all-league team.

Farr came to Houston from San Diego and promptly reversed the Oilers' fortunes in the defensive backfield. Whereas the Oilers had allowed 25 touchdowns at the same corner spot in 1966, Farr was scored on just once. He also intercepted a league-leading 10 passes and ran back three of them for TDs.

But what happens in that corner spot this season is open to speculation right now. Farr spent part of the off-season with an attaik of hepatitis and has yet to play in any of the exhibition games. In fact he's worked very little in practice.

Playing in his place has been Larry Carwell, a second-year man who didn't see too much action in 1967. He has, however, impressed Lemm.

"Carwell's played very, very well," Lemm said. "He's had some real tough receivers to cover in the exhibition games, and he's done real well."

The other members of the secondary are Jim Norton, Ken Houston and W. K. Hicks while Garland Boyette and Olen Underwood join Webster in backing the line.

The front four consists of ends Pat Holmes and Gary Cutsinger and tackles Willie Parker and George Rice.

The offense is where the Oilers must improve if they hope to repeat as Eastern champions, and quarterback is the spot where they are looking for the improvement.

There's no doubt about the authenticity of the running attack. Hoyle Granger rushed for 1,194 yards, only 22 less than league-leader Jim Nance, and rookie Woodie Campbell added 511 yards with an impressive 4.6 average.

Democratic Convention Boss-Run, Nixon Says

Miami (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon sees the Democratic Convention as a boss-run affair with punishing results for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and a measurable gain for his own presidential candidacy.

This evaluation was passed along Wednesday by close associates of the GOP nominee, who has been vacationing in Florida and the Bahamas, for the past week, resting up for the final stretch drive.

Nixon's views:

—Humphrey, the man he had always presumed would be his opponent, received a sharp setback because of the position he took on convention credentials fights. By supporting the credentials committee compromise recommendations on the Georgia challenge, Humphrey in effect backed Lester Maddox. And, by going along with the committee's refusal to accept challenges in states such as Texas and Alabama, Humphrey found himself tied in with other Southern conservatives as well, Nixon forces reasoned.

—Humphrey was hurt by news reports indicating he preferred a softer plank on Vietnam than the one written by the platform committee, allegedly at the insistence of President Johnson. Nixon contends that the vice president has been "vacillating" on the issue, and feels he can take advantage of Humphrey's dilemma.

—Developments of recent days have demonstrated that, unlike the Republican Convention, the Democratic Convention has been run by "machine bosses." Proof of this, according to the Nixon camp, is the fact the only candidate for the nomination who ran in the primaries is Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., and he is being repudiated by the men who run the party machinery. As for Sen. Ted Kennedy, Nixon believes he is readying himself for a run for the presidency in 1972, much like his late brother John set his sights on the 1960 election in 1956.

—The turbulence at the Chicago convention — disorder that is being witnessed by millions of television viewers — stands in marked and unflattering contrast to the orderly procedures of the earlier Republican convention in Maimi Beach. Nixon believes the Democratic meeting revealed a lack of leadership in that party while the Republican convention displayed Nixon's ability to unite differing factions.

The Nixon organization also has decided that it gained strategically by holding its convention first. While the Democrats have been warring with each other, Nixon has been able to move about the country healing any wounds left from his nomination fight.

"They come out with the pieces they have to put together while we are already unified and are ready to make the effort to win the support of Democrats and independents," one Nixon source said.

Nixon intends to run a campaign against the record of the Johnson administration and any evidence they have linking Humphrey to that record — or to Johnson — will aid their candidate, it was said.

DOANE STUDENTS FLY IN

Sixty-five Doane College students from six Eastern states arrive on a United Airlines charter flight from Newark, N.J., Wednesday afternoon in Crete. Local businessmen arranged a motorcade to ferry the students and their luggage. Orientation sessions are scheduled this week.

'Time Of War'

Mbabane, Swaziland (AP) — King Sobhuza II has decreed that Swazi tribesmen must wear traditional warrior dress to greet independence from Britain on Sept. 6 and that all bereaved people must discard mourning before the celebration. He said the attire should symbolize "a time of war — they will be like a nation being born again."

Students, Troops Clash In Central Mexico City

Mexico City (AP) — Shooting broke out in the heart of Mexico City Wednesday after police and federal troops chased student dissidents from the square in front of the presidential palace.

There were unconfirmed reports of injuries. Ambulances wailed through the city. Tear-gas grenades exploded near the square.

The opening shots apparently were directed toward the soldiers from a balcony near the square. Pistol shots could be heard a block away.

Flag Removed

Just before the shooting, an estimated 50,000 persons gathered to watch the removal of a flag raised by demonstrators in front of the palace.

About 1,500 students had been sitting in front of the main door of the palace, where President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz has his office, demanding removal of three police officials and re-establishment of university autonomy, among other things.

Troops told the demonstrators to leave. When they refused, more troops and cannon-carrying assault cars moved into Zocalo Square, which is surrounded by government buildings, and forced students and bystanders to flee.

Mexico City has been hit by sporadic student-police violence since July 26, when a gathering in sympathy with the government of Communist Cuba was dispersed by riot squads.

Government spokesmen have blamed the disorders on Communist agitators, and arrested several Communist party leaders. But they have admitted there is non-Communist student discontent, especially over troop intervention at the university campus early this month.

Trade On Fed Cattle Is Steady

Omaha (AP) — Trade on fed cattle here Wednesday was steady in fairly brisk bargaining. There was a good showing of well-finished cattle, thus spurring bids. Trade slowed near the close, however. Cows firmed after several sessions of weak to lower prices. Bulls were unchanged.

A load of choice to prime 1,252 lb. fed steers capped the trade at $29.25. Some 10 loads choice to prime 1,105-1,318 lb. weights ranged $28.50-28.85, bulk choice over 1,100 lbs. $27.28.25, lighter weights upward from $26.50.

Choice to prime 965-975 lb. heifers brought $27.40-27.50.

Butcher hog values again edged lower, with lighter weights under most pressure. Values were steady to 25 cents lower. Bulk 200-270 lbs $19.25-20.

Fat lambs traded firm to 15 cents higher, bestonhand $26.25.

Savings Bonds, Freedom Share Sales Up 14 Pct.

U.S. Savings Bonds and Freedom Share sales showed a marked increase in Nebraska during July according to M. F. Oberg, Omaha, volunteer state chairman.

Sales for the month amounted to $4,165,921, highest for any month since February and more than $1 million over June. Series H sales of $910,500 were up 14% over the same month of 1967.

July was the first complete reporting month since Savings Bonds and Freedom Share interest rates were increased to 4¼ and 5% respectively, Oberg said.

All Commodities Rise At Chicago

Chicago (AP) — All commodity prices advanced on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday, with soybeans leading the move on a rise of nearly 2 cents a bushel.

Trade was active and moved at a good pace.

The advance in soybeans, best in a week, was influenced by several factors. The supply of beans in Chicago has been under 1 million bushels for a week and few shipments have arrived to replenish the dwindling stocks. Farmers also reportedly have been holding back some beans from markets in an effort to boost prices.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to ⅜ cent a bushel higher, September 1.18¼; corn was unchanged to ⅝ higher, September 1.05⅞; oats were ⅛ to ⅜ higher, September 58⅛ cents; rye was 1⅛ to 1¼ cents higher, September 1.11½; and soybeans were ⅛ to ⅜ higher, September 2.63⅜.

Do you know some of the causes of hearing loss in children? German measles during the first three months of pregnancy; RH-incompatibility; birth injury; the toxemia of childhood diseases like measles, mumps, influenza; upper respiratory and subsequent middle ear infections; closure of the eustachion tubes by enlarged adenoids; toxic effects of certain drugs—these are but a partial list of the known causes of defective hearing.

If there is any indication of a hearing loss, bring it to the attention of your Pediatrician or Ear Doctor.

LP-Gas Dealers Expand Services

Modern LP-Gas retailers have vastly increased their services in recent years, according to a recent study by a private LP-Gas company.

The report indicates that, where LP-Gas companies originally were concerned only with the sale and delivery of LP-Gas, they now offer many other services. These services include keep-filled refill service, safety-engineered installations, periodic appliance inspections, and meter-proven delivery. In addition, 24-hour emergency appliance service is available from some companies. Many LP-Gas retailers also carry a complete stock of LP-Gas appliances.

For more information, contact the LP-Gas outlets in your area.

LP-Gas is piped directly to this area by a division of MAPCO — the Mid-America Pipeline System — the underground highway weather can't block.

Ten Orphans Get Their Wish To Stay Together

Madera, Calif. (AP) — The 10 Morris orphans got their wish to stay together Wednesday when they were assigned to the guardianship of an aunt, but it involved family heartbreak, none the less.

In assigning the children to Mrs. Stanley Graves of Concord, Calif., Superior Court Judge Jack Hammerberg ruled that their paternal grandmother, Molly Morris, would have to move out of the Graves large, five-bedroom home.

Mrs. Morris, 60, who has lived with her daughter since her husband died 10 years ago, said tearfully, "I don't know where I'll go." Temporarily she will live with a cousin in Fresno, Calif.

Ruefully, Mrs. Graves said, "I guess you can say I traded my mother for 10 kids."

The papers were sealed in the juvenile court proceeding, and the reasoning was not explained.

A family friend said, however, it was decided that it would be better for the children, who range in age from 3 to 17, to get used to just two adults in the new household.

Children Cheerful

The 10 children sat cheerfully in the jury box.

The maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bolis Lachawicz, had cared for the children since their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris, were killed in a traffic accident July 2.

Mrs. Graves said she would quit her job in a department store to devote full time to the Morris children and her own son, David, 15. Graves works for a business forms company in Emeryville.

Cathy, 17-year-old leader of the brood, said of the decision, "It's great, but I don't like the conditions."

None of the children was tempted by the more than 100 offers of adoption that flowed in after the tragic accident.

The nearly $50,000 that has come in the form of contributions ranging from $1 to $1,000 has been placed in a trust fund for the children's education that is being administered without charge by Bank of America.

In addition, the children will receive $425 a month in Social Security benefits.

A $500,000 suit has been filed in the children's behalf against Clifford Salmon, 61, of Porterville, driver of the other car involved in the accident that claimed the parents' lives.

Salmon is scheduled to enter a plea in Superior Court Thursday on manslaughter and drunken driving charges.

Challenger Defeats Sen. Gruening

© New York Times Service

Anchorage, Alaska — A dramatic unexpected victory by a 38-year-old challenger has terminated the long political career of Sen. Ernest Gruening, 81 years old, known to his admirers as "Mr. Alaska."

Mike Gravel, an Anchorage real estate developer and former speaker of the State House of Representatives, won the Democratic nomination for the Senate over Gruening in Tuesday's Alaska primary election.

Unofficial returns to Secretary of State Keith Miller in Juneau from 373 of the state's 415 precincts gave Gravel 16,820 votes and Gruening 14,354.

The senator, counting on a substantial percentage of the absentee vote, which had been widely publicized as totalling 5,000 to 8,000 and which will not be finally tabulated for a week, said he was "not prepared to admit defeat."

Miller said Wednesday, however, that the absentee ballots would not exceed 3,500.

Colombians Sign Soviet Contract For Bus System

© New York Times Service

Bogota — The Soviet Union contracted Wednesday to provide an electric trolleybus system to serve 250,000 Colombians living in Ciudad Kennedy, a huge working-class suburb built largely with United States aid funds.

The $2.5 million trolleybus contract for 100 trolleybuses was the largest Soviet sale made here in response to Colombia's effort to develop closer commercial and political relations with the socialist countries.

If the Soviet bus system proves successful, it will be a public relations coup for the Russians. One of the main complaints of people living in the outlying Ciudad Kennedy and other new districts is the slow, crowded conditions of public transport.

U.S., N. Korea Arrange To Meet Again On Pueblo

Washington (AP) — The State Department indicated Wednesday that a new secret meeting has been arranged between U.S. and North Korean representatives on release of the captured intelligence ship Pueblo and its 82 surviving officers and crew.

The timing of the meeting was not disclosed.

There have been 19 earlier meetings at Panmunjom, in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

Only 24 hours earlier, the spokesman had said there had been no response to U.S. requests for a meeting. The last talks were held July 9.

Phone Company Will Cut Rates On Alaska Calls

New York (UPI) — Rates for telephone calls between Alaska and the rest of the U.S. will be cut an estimated $1.15 million a year beginning Oct. 1, it was announced Wednesday.

The long lines division of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said new schedules filed with the Federal Communications Commission will slice tolls for night and weekend station-to-station calls.

AT&T said the new rates will range from $2 to $3.50 for the first three minutes, depending on locations. Present rates range from $2 to $4.75, the announcement said.

Window Washer Wordless Worker

Chicago (AP) — Many of the services around this convention city have been severely overtaxed by strikes and other difficulties, but the window washers seem to be going their appointed rounds.

One newsman was sleeping soundly in the Democratic headquarters Conrad Hilton Hotel around 8 a.m. Wednesday when a man carrying a bucket let himself into the room with a pass key.

The stranger threw open the window, climbed out on the 21st floor ledge, secured himself to the side of the building, washed the window with a sponge and a squeegee, climbed back inside and did the same to the inside, and then left.

The two men exchanged not a word.

'Indiscribable Triumph'

Castel Gandolfo, Italy (UPI) — Pope Paul described his visit to Latin America as an "indescribable triumph" and said he meant to imitate symbolically Christ's miracle of the loaves and fishes with his call for massive social reform there.
